NATURE RENEWS LIFE'S BALANCE IN FOREST AREAS

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

In their broad sweep of the Illinois prairie pastoral scene, with their woods, meadows, and watercourses girdling Chicago on three sides, the forest preserves of Cook county, comprising a people's estate of 33,500 acres valued at $130,000,000, offer a variety of holiday adventures and a safety valve for millions kept too long from the healing touch of the great mother of life, law, and beauty.

At this season the American egret has flown up from the Louisiana marshes to visit us for a few weeks. This great white bird of the heron type drifts majestically over woods and hills and waters seeking a pleasant resting place with food and quiet.

Beauty for a Beautiful Bird.

The egret ignores all but the little lakes and swamps, quiet ponds such as Thoreau loved. And, strangely enough, they are waiting here and the egret soon finds rest. All might have been created for this beautiful bird, the world with its sunlight and swamps and banquet of fish and weed.

The forest preserves, visited by 15,000,000 people a year, traversed by 150 miles of trails, with drives and parking places for automobiles, still retain and increase their wilderness aspect. There are deep virgin woods, almost a jungle in spots, and from the new Skokie lagoons on the north to the Orland sanctuary and the Sauk trail on the south there are touches of the old prairie life, a restoration of the balance of nature, signs of a return of birds and animals to one of their lost Edens.

Population Is Varied Indeed.

There are in this area, according to Gordon Pearsall, curator of the Trailside museum in Thatcher Woods, which is run in conjunction with the Chicago Academy of Science, the following census of wild life:

39 definite species of mammals.
75 species of rare birds.
31 species of reptiles, turtles, lizards.
2,000 insect species.
65 species of butterflies.
175 species of larger moths.
600 species of wildflowers.

Another visitor of this season, which seems for us to exist for no good reason at all, is the 17 year cicada which is causing our roadside trees to take on premature patches of autumn's dead leaves.

Cicadas Wield a Dagger.

The female of this species has a dagger under her belt and goes about cutting holes with it and laying eggs in the end branches of the trees. This stops the circulation and this part of the tree is weakened and falls to the ground in the first strong gust of wind. This is what the cicada wants, for the eggs go with the branch and, turning into little worms, burrow beyond the frost line to sleep and change and develop for another 17 years when they will emerge as cicada to do the same thing to the trees.

It seems quite senseless and useless, but all the earth and the trees might have been made for a banquet for the cicada, and the air a carrying wave for the sound of their drums. Brother crow will eat them up if he gets a chance, and so in turn the world becomes his banquet table.

Nature's Vitality Inexhaustible.

Nature will take charge of all this and equalize it and start over again, patiently, accurately, with exhaustless vitality. In a few weeks all the trees will be brown and in the winter storms the weak branches will die, and in the spring all will be green again. The dead limbs and trees will form nomes for the beetles and the worms, and these in turn will support the birds whose song will rise after the winter sleep.

So goes the cycle, in endless variety, with growth its unvarying law, with each species cared for by the marvelous intelligence inherent in the heart of nature. Humanity, too, is in the web, ruled by laws which it must obey or perish, and so the forest preserves may form a corollary to the human preserves. The observer and the observed, the singer and the song, are one.

SHOT ENDS LIFE OF KEY WITNESS AGAINST LECHE

Dr. J. A. Shaw Called in U. S. Fraud Case.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 20 [Special].—Dr. James A. Shaw, czar of the oil industry in Louisiana, ended his life by shooting himself in his home here tonight. Shaw's control of the oil industry came through his directorship of the minerals division of the Louisiana department of conservation.

Dr. Jas. A. Shaw. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Shaw, 64 years old, was found by his wife in the bathroom of their home. A revolver lay on the floor near by. He was taken to the Baptist hospital where he died on an operating table.

Shaw's car crashed into an underpass on a highway near Thibodaux yesterday. Several hours before the crash he was reported to have been in a dazed and nervous condition.

"Hot Oil" Case Witness.

Shaw was to have been a key witness in the federal government's forthcoming trial of Richard W. Leche, former governor, and Seymour Weiss, New Orleans, hotel owner and a political power in the state.

Leche, Weiss, and Freeman W. Burford, Texas oil millionaire, are under indictment on charges of having violated the Connally "hot oil" act. Leche and Weiss are accused of having conspired to permit piping of oil illegally from four wells in the Rodessa field to Texas and accepting $67,000 graft each for arranging the deal.

In addition the government charges Leche and Weiss collected 10 cents a barrel commission for the oil piped into Texas which was produced in excess of the state's quota and in violation of the Connally restrictive act.

Shaw was denounced last week by Federal Judge T. W. Davidson in Dallas, Tex., when the judge refused to order removal of Burford to New Orleans for trial.

Judge Davidson said Shaw and Robert S. Maestri, mayor of New Orleans and Shaw's superior as commissioner of conservation in 1936, were just as guilty as Leche and Weiss because the Rodessa oil could not have been produced and piped out of the state without their connivance.

Signs Order to Hold Job.

Appearing as a witness for the government at the Dallas hearing Shaw testified he signed the Rodessa order to hold his job and was in the habit of signing any paper pushed in front of him in similar transactions. Shaw testified that he did not know Leche and Weiss were to get a commission of 10 cents a barrel for the oil, but he had an idea they were because they didn't do things for nothing.

Judge Davidson assailed the Louisiana federal grand jury which indicted Leche, Weiss, and Burford and said partiality had been shown because the jury failed to indict Shaw and Maestri, despite the evidence.

"Graft will not be suppressed in Louisiana," said Judge Davidson, "so long as rubber stamp men hold the seal of state and put the O. K. on the crooks who happen to be over and above them."

Testimony Can't Be Used.

Federal attorneys here declared tonight the testimony given by Dr. Shaw at the Dallas hearing could not be used in the case against Leche and Weiss because the defendants' attorneys had no chance to cross examine Shaw.

Shaw headed the minerals division under three conservation commissioners. When Maestri resigned to become mayor of New Orleans, William G. Rankin was appointed to the job. Two weeks after Gov. Earl K. Long succeeded Leche, who resigned last June 26, Long fired Shaw.

Two weeks ago Gov. Long announced the reinstatement of Shaw in the conservation department, saying a mistake had been made in dismissing him.

DEWEY LEAVES FOR DELAYED VISIT WITH MOTHER IN MICHIGAN

New York, Aug. 20 [Special].—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey left tonight for Owosso, Mich., to visit his mother, Mrs. George Martin Dewey. He was accompanied by Paul Lockwood, one of his executive assistants.

Dewey had planned to leave a week ago but he postponed his visit because of matters pending in his office. These were assumed to be connected with the case of Louis [Lepke] Buchalter, fugitive racketeer, for whose apprehension the board of estimate has offered a reward of $25,000.

When Dewey first planned his trip it was said that he intended to make no formal speech. Supporters of Dewey for the G. O. P. presidential nomination were expected to go from various parts of the middle west to talk with him. It is probable that most of them will go to Owosso during his delayed visit.

RUN BALD EAGLE OFF WITHOUT A SCALP OR TOUPEE

Responsible bald eagles that you see in this part of the country are generally on the losing side of a quarter. And so Director Bob Smart of the Jackson park bird sanctuary gazed with suspicion on the one he saw soaring over the sanctuary yesterday.

Smart said some bald eagles go south in the winter, but that wouldn't account for one flying over the sanctuary in August. He suspected that the big bird was thinking of having one of the little birds of the sanctuary for dinner. Smart rowed out on the lagoon, therefore, to let the bald eagle know he was on the qui vive, and the bald eagle flew off pretending he was just looking for a place to get himself a new toupee.

HORSEMEN SEND GLIDER IN AIR, BUT WIND FAILS

Members of Los Charros, an early California horsemen's organization, grasping 250 foot tow lines, galloped their steeds at a speed sufficient on two occasions to send a sailplane with a gross weight of 450 pounds 100 feet into the air.

Lack of wind prevented a flight, however, and the craft landed both times within a distance of a half mile.

Charge County Winks at Slot Machine Ring

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Slot machines by the hundreds were in operation. Into them went thousands of dollars in nickles, dimes, quarters, and halves. Out of them came little.

This was Cook county, outside the Chicago city limits. The time was yesterday, the day before, and for some weeks past.

"Law enforcement against slot machines is a joke in Cook county," said Chairman Arthur S. Smith of the Illinois liquor control commission, by telephone from his home in Bloomington. "You have a syndicate operating the slot machines up there and the syndicate is tolerated.

Report Violations by Hundreds.

"Cook is the only county in the state where the machines now operate. There can be no secret about what is going on in Cook county. I have made hundreds upon hundreds of reports about taverns operating slot machines. And only a handful of the machines have been seized."

Smith and Attorney General John E. Cassidy have been reported to be working on a plan to revoke the licenses of liquor sellers who operate slot machines.

"We had a meeting in Chicago a few months ago and we announced we were going to get rid of slot machines in Cook county," Smith said.

Won't Penalize Little Fellows.

"The state has the power to enforce the laws and the state ought to show that it means what it says. But I hate to revoke the license of a little fellow whose place of business is across the street from a big casino.

"If we are going to clean up Cook county we ought to start at the top."

The meeting mentioned by Smith was called by Attorney General Cassidy in his Chicago office on June 2. Present with these two state officials were Chief Walter Williams of the state police, Chief Lester Laird of the Cook county highway police, and First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley.

"There are not as many as ten thousand machines operating in Cook county but that estimate is not so far off," Smith asserted. "I know how many there are and I know who runs them."

Offers Grand Jury Records.

Smith said he has a ledger containing slot machine records which would be available for a grand jury.

"My ledger goes back to Feb. 1, 1934," he added. "I have a record of every time a slot machine has been seen in a tavern by any of my investigators. I have thirty-six men who cover the 24,000 licensed places in the state, and I know every place that ever had a slot machine."

Attorney General Cassidy recently said he expected the slot machine scandal to be aired by a grand jury. A federal grand jury was in session all last week investigating the income of William R. Skidmore, reputed head of the slot machine syndicate and payoff man for gambling joints, and the inquiry will be resumed today.

REPORT 4 NAZI 'SUBS' CROSSING ATLANTIC TO SEIZE MARTINIQUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 21 [Monday].—Four German submarines are sailing across the Atlantic toward Venezuela to seize the French-owned island of Martinique in the event of war in Europe, according to a story published here this morning.

The venture, it is indicated, has the backing of Adolf Hitler in the belief that such a spectacular stunt would give Americans a different slant on British and French power, as well as provide a base for raiding enemy shipping.

Believed a dream when first reported in London, the plan is considered seriously since discovery that recruiting of a German armed force in Venezuela and other South American republics is under way. It also was said that at least one transport, with a supply of modern arms, has been sent toward South America. Others are reported ready to follow.

These transports, it is said, will pick up the Germans recruited in Venezuela and attack Martinique if a European war starts.

Germany and Russia Sign Trade and Credit Pact.

BERLIN, Aug. 20 (AP).—Germany and soviet Russia have concluded an important trade and credit treaty opening Russia's rich natural resources to the Nazis at a time of serious international tension and increasing war talk.

Germany in negotiations concluded yesterday granted the soviets an $80,000,000 credit and Russia promised to deliver $72,000,000 worth of products within the next two years.

Announcement of the agreement came while military talks among Great Britain, France, and the soviet were reported encountering difficulties such as plagued the political talks for a mutual assistance pact before them. Whether the new trade agreement would have any effect on these conversations was not apparent.

Nazis Hail Treaty.

The Nazis undoubtedly will import on a much larger scale than ever before vital Russian raw materials, including manganese and other ores, lumber, gasoline and oil, sulphur, and chemicals.

Russia will use the German credits to buy machinery for making needed tools and spare parts.

German political and economic quarters were quick in hailing the treaty, signed yesterday, as the signal for a "sharp upward turn" in trade relations between the two countries.

Politically opposed, the two countries in recent years have permitted their trade volume gradually to slip until last year it was only 100,000,000 marks [$40,000,000].

Nazi spokesmen were confident of an immediate pickup in commerce because they said that Germany, the industrial state, and soviet Russia, a land of inexhaustible raw materials, "complement one another economically in a most natural manner."

Also Signs Up South Africa.

It must be assumed, they said, that Germany's capacity to absorb Russian raw materials is "without limit."

The treaty was cited as an "example that Germany as a consequence of its trade policy pursues as intensive an economic coöperation as possible with any other state ready to do so."

The Nazi-soviet treaty follows conclusion of a barter agreement signed at Pretoria, South Africa, yesterday. Germany will receive large quantities of raw materials from South Africa as a result of the pact, business circles here said.

It was expected that wool valued at about $17,316,000 would be taken by Germany, along with large amounts of whale oil, ores, and leather.

Payment will be in German manufactured products.

Pact Perils Alliance.

MOSCOW, Aug. 20 (AP).—Announcement that Germany and soviet Russia had signed a long term trade and credit agreement threw a bombshell in the midst of military staff talks with France and Great Britain.

Its effect on the talks was unpredictable immediately but some observers believed it marked an effective barrier to any soviet alliance with Britain and France.

London Is Surprised.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 20. — Announcement of the signing of a Russo-German trade pact is reported to have caught the British foreign office by surprise tonight. It was indicated, however, that before opening of negotiations with Great Britain and France for a mutual assistance pact Vyacheslav Molotov, soviet foreign commissar, made it clear that Russia has kept trade relations with Germany separate from politics.

British diplomatic observers tonight described the pact as badly timed and "unfortunate" in view of the fact that the three-power army staff talks in Moscow were making little progress.

Shun American Plan.

KOENIGSBERG, Germany, Aug. 20 (AP).—Suggestions from the United States that America might grant a large credit to buy raw materials on condition Germans disarm are of no interest, State Secretary Fritz Landfried declared in an address at the East Prussian fair today.

"It is not the practice of the Germany of Adolf Hitler to mix up questions of national security with business deals," Landfried said. Trade with the United States on a barter basis is possible, he added.

ZILINA, Slovakia, Aug. 20 (AP).—A quarter of a million German troops, with full war equipment, massed today on little Slovakia's 250 mile frontier with Poland.

The greater part was concentrated behind the four main passes leading over the Tatra mountains into Poland.

Roads were choked with moving troops, artillery, and supply trains. There was a steady movement of troops entering the area from Moravia, along the highway from Moravska Ostrava [Maerisch Ostrau] to Cadca.

Schools Become Barracks.

In the occupied areas, schools and town halls were taken over for barracks and base hospitals, clearly marked with large signs. Between villages, munitions depots were established, and there were large supplies of barbed wire and corrugated iron shelter roofs.

All bridges were guarded by sentries with fixed bayonets. Hundreds of laborers were repairing the roads, and bridges were reinforced by heavy timbers to permit the passage of heavy trucks and guns.

An observer, making a sixty mile automobile trip in the area north of Zilina, counted an average of four German military encampments of various sizes to the mile.

Tents were camouflaged, and, near the frontier, gun crews were wheeling their artillery into position, spreading camouflage nets overhead. Field telephones were strung throughout the area.

Slovak Troops Out of Sight.

Northern Slovakia's dusty roads were whipped into a haze by dozens of motorcycle dispatch riders. Military police guided trafic in the bigger towns and villages.

In sixty miles the observer saw only three Slovak gendarmes, and Slovak troops, if there were any, were completely out of sight.

Although heavy guns, hauled by Diesel tractors, were a frequent sight, there were no tanks. Apparently the steep mountain passes and jagged terrain had been judged unfavorable for large tank operations by the German command.

In many villages soldiers fraternized freely with bewildered Slovak citizens. Giggling Slovak girls held hands with gray-clad infantrymen, while groups of wide-eyed small boys clustered around other laughing soldiers who amused them with card tricks.

Windfall for Merchants.

Zilina was quiet, with the German troops remaining outside the town. Officers have been billeted in the hotels and private homes in Zilina.

Slovak merchants were having a windfall. The area's cigaret supply was exhausted quickly and there was little beer to be had. Soldiers were purchasing Slovak village handicraft to send back home.

In some villages German regimental bands had taken possession of the squares to serenade the inhabitants, who quickly learned to salute passing troop convoys with arms upraised in Nazi fashion.

Press Scolds Poland.

GLEIWITZ, Germany, Aug. 20 (AP).—An abusive press was the only thing disturbing the Sunday morning calm of this Silesian town on the German-Polish border.

Civil and military crowds attended the half dozen cathedrals in this Catholic community as Nazi party news organs poured scolding words upon their Polish neighbors.

Receiving equal attention in morning newspapers was reported "chaos" in Polish business across the border and the "martyrdom" of hundreds of Germans.

"The business situation in Polish Silesia," said the official newspaper Wanderer of Gleiwitz, "is getting worse from day to day. The situation is critical in the extreme."

Recital of Grievances.

Four entire pages in the Oberschlesische Volkszstimme were devoted to a recital of German grievances against the alleged mistreatment of German-speaking persons of Polish Silesia.

[Edward Benes was president of Czecho-Slovakia during the dispute which led to the dismemberment of the republic. Both during the Czecho-Slovak crisis and after his resignation on Oct. 5, 1938, Benes was a target for Nazi shafts.]

Matzel in relating how East Silesia came into Polish hands, quoted René Martell, a French writer, who deplored the condition that took this region away from Germany.

The editor also recalled a statement accredited to David Lloyd George, Britain's world war prime minister, urging that the industrial region remain entirely under German control.

Both local papers gave prominent play to a report from Graudenz stating Polish soldiers had deserted in large numbers in the Olsa region to come across to Germany, in one instance half a company in full field equipment.

SERBS, CROATS REACH ACCORD, SAYS PREMIER

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Aug. 20.—Premier Dragisha Tsvetkovitch declared in a speech here today that an agreement with Croatian autonomist leaders has been reached. Further negotiations were unnecessary, he said. Publication of the accord was expected probably on Monday.

One well informed source intimated that on Tuesday Premier Tsvetkovitch, Dr. Vladimir Machek, Croat leader, and the jurists who drafted the pact would be presented to Regent Prince Paul.

It is understood that as soon as the agreement is accepted by Prince Paul, conversations will begin to draw up a constitution for a new government in which the Croats will be represented. It is expected Dr. Machek will accept the post as vice premier.

HUNGARIAN NAZIS SEIZED AT SECRET MILITARY DRILLS

BUDAPEST, Aug. 20 (AP).—The Hungarian Nazi organ Magyarsag today said twenty-one executives of the Nazi Youth group had been arrested for organizing secret military exercises in the hills outside Budapest. The newspaper, which insisted the gathering was for "political education" only, said police arrested thirty members of the organization Aug. 16, later releasing nine. According to the Magyarsag, the arrested men were accused of drilling several hundred youths last Sunday.

GUATEMALA NAMES AN ENVOY TO PRESS CLAIM IN BOUNDARY DISPUTE

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

GUATEMALA, Aug. 20.—President Jorge Ubicos has named Sinforoso Aguilar, chief press officer of the foreign office, as minister to England. It is understood the new minister bears instructions from President Ubicos to confer directly with Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax concerning the boundary dispute between Guatemala and British Honduras.

Recently the Guatemala press has intensified the campaign for settlement of the question, involving the promise of Great Britain to build a road from the Carribean coast to the capital.

The government of Guatemala has not denied charges that German Nazis are the institgators of the renewed claims of Guatemala, which had not been mentioned in many years.

FRANCE ARRESTS JEWS CROSSING LINE FROM ITALY

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

NICE, France, Aug. 20.—More than forty Jewish refugees from Italy who have crossed the border into France in the last few days are being held in Cannes and other Riviera towns for questioning by police.

Several groups landed from boats. Others, after secretly crossing the border, have been arrested at Cannes, Antibes, and other places. Many of these are Austrian and German Jews who had been in Italy only a few months.

Inspector Francal of the French police, formerly at Briel and recently transferred to Port Vendres, has been arrested and brought back to Grasse. The charges against him were not disclosed, but it is believed he is held in connection with the entry of refugees into French territory.

HUNGARIAN PRESS SILENT ON TALKS WITH NAZI CHIEFS

BUDAPEST, Aug. 20 (AP).—The Hungarian press today refrained from direct comment on Foreign Minister Csaky's talks with German and Italian leaders, but one political weekly reprinted a foreign dispatch declaring "German pressure on Hungary is increasing."

The bewildered average Hungarian, seeking light on Count Csaky's talks in Salzburg and Rome, anxiously tries to read between the lines of his newspaper. Most of the press features today's celebrations in honor of St. Stephen, with the reminder he was the founder of Hungary's proud 1,000 years of independence.

While foreign reports that Germany has sought Hungary's military aid against Poland were indignantly denied, the newspapers stressed that Hungarians are determined to remain neutral if German demands on Poland bring war.

POLE BREAKS 4TH PANE IN GERMAN SHIP LINE WINDOW

The plate glass window of the North German Lloyd company office in the Hotel Sherman was shattered early yesterday by a beer mug hurled from the sidewalk. It was the fourth such happening in two years.

As in previous cases there was a penciled note folded inside the mug. It read:

"From Poles to Germany. [Signed] "J. P."

The other notes, all of them unprintable, have dealt with opinions of Germany and Hitler. John Roe, colored, doorman of the hotel, told police that a short, stocky man who drove up in a maroon colored coupe threw yesterday's missile.

'DER TAG' IS NEAR, GERMAN PRESS WARNS POLAND

Conflict Will Be Localized, Officials Believe.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—The highest official quarters in Germany still cling to the conviction that a major war will be averted.

Important officials confidentially expressed the conviction today that the Nazis' Danzig demands cannot be settled without an armed conflict, but they believe any conflict will be localized along the northeastern border of Germany.

However, the Nazi press was filled with declarations that "Der Tag"—the day of reckoning with Poland—is coming.

Both press and officials dwelt on the theme of Danzig, the free city which is under Polish customs administration and which Germany wants returned [it was German territory before the world war] and Pomorze [the Polish corridor], through which the Nazis want a connection with German East Prussia.

Forster Assails Poles.

In Danzig the Nazi district leader, Albert Forster, told a Nazi meeting "the hour approaches. When it comes we will win." He charged the Poles had indulged in "unashamed insolence" in rejecting Hitler's proposals for solving the Danzig problem.

"Now Der Fuehrer will solve these problems," Forster said. "The situation is tense," but "the solution must come. The present conditions cannot and must not continue."

Nazis can be heard in Berlin street cars and coffee houses assuring listeners that "we have such tremendous new weapons that even if a major war begins, we will purverize our enemies." In contrast with those who speak of superior weapons, the average citizen concludes with, "naturally we all expect there will not be any need for trying out the new weapons."

Italian Envoy Confers.

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop conferred with Hitler at his summer headquarters today and later conferred with Bernardo Attolico, Italian ambassador. Attolico was accompanied by his counsellor of the embassy and observers took this to mean that an especially formal conference was held.

Nazis do not deny that their Italian axis partners would like to see the present crisis and tension end as fast as possible, but the Nazis add, "this must not be misinterpreted — come what may, Italy and Germany will stand together."

Nazis try to convince foreign interviewers that "Poland and England are more anxious for a compromise at the present moment than Prague was three days before Czecho-Slovakia's dismemberment was started at the Munich conference."

Stir Minority Feelings.

The German press and radio continue to flood the country with reports of alleged "harrowing experiences of Germans at the hands of the Polish mobs." A long list of factories from which German workers were said to have been chased appeared in the press.

As in the campaigns against Czecho-Slovakia, Germans display the greatest interest in minority groups showing dissatisfaction with their governments. The Nazis now are playing up the conflict between Poles and Ukrainians. Nazis say that clashes took place in Landberg, Skola, and other parts of eastern Poland between Polish priests and Ukrainians.

A complete blackout of the Cologne, Duesseldorf, and Muenster areas will begin at sundown on Monday and is to be raised again at dawn on Wednesday. It will not be announced by sirens and so far no reference has been made to it in the Berlin press.

Declare Patience Wanes.

BERLIN, Aug. 20 (AP).—The Nazi press today declared that so-called "Polish insolence" was fast exhausting "German patience."

The influential Hamburg Fremdenblatt headlined that Poland "still has five minutes for reflection."

The Fremdenblatt reflected the general official contention that the Polish dispute must be settled almost at once.

There was no time limit, set either officially or informally, but the impression was unmistakable that Germany counted on only a matter of days before taking some positive step.

Some papers, including the Fremdenblatt, hinted that Poland might "save itself" by coming forward with an acceptable suggestion.

Urge Dropping of Britain.

An implied invitation to Poland to take some "constructive initiative" was contained in the official news bureau's citations from Italian papers suggesting that Poland "drop England and France" and attempt direct negotiations with Germany.

But no responsible German source made any direct suggestion that Poland should try, without coöperation of her allies, to come to an understanding with Berlin.

Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter asserted "Danzig and the corridor are and remain two unconditional German demands about which there can be no debates."

The Beobachter and other papers close to the government were irritated by British and French newspapers' suspicions that German reports of mistreatment of Germans in Poland were exaggerated. Suggestions that these reports were maneuvers and deliberate efforts to create an intolerable situation artificially were denied.

From East Prussia came German warnings that the reich, prepared to deal a swift and smashing military blow if it loses patience, is also prepared in an economic sense for a long conflict.

Speaking at the East Prussian fair at Koenigsberg, State Secretary Fritz Landfried of the economics ministry said Germany is "prepared on the economic front."

"We know we could win no war if we were defeated in the economic field," Landfried said. "Therefore, we have armed ourselves economically, so we could throw the full fighting power of the nation into the contest."

ITALIANS SEE END OF DANZIG ROW OR WAR IN FEW DAYS

Urge Poland to Accept Hitler's Plan.

ROME, Aug. 20 (AP).—Authoritative Italians predicted today the tension over Danzig would reach a climax within a few days, with war the alternative to Germany's acquisition of the free city.

The Fascist newspapers, as though by government inspiration, urged the Warsaw government to accept Adolf Hitler's plan of last April. This plan calls for:

1. Return of Danzig to Germany.
2. A German highway and railroad across Pomorze [the Polish corridor], between Germany and East Prussia.
3. A free zone for Polish shipping at Danzig.
4. German guarantee of Poland's frontiers in a nonaggression treaty for twenty-five years.

Advise Reconsideration.

Italians recognized the difficulty of winning Poland to such a plan, which was rejected four months ago. As "real friends" of Poland, however, they advised her to think it over again.

With the situation increasingly acute, this week was expected to be one of considerable diplomatic activity in Rome.

Count Stefan Csaky, Hungarian foreign minister, is expected to return tomorrrow to resume conversations with Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano. The Italian foreign minister returned tonight to Rome by airplane from a two day inspection of the public works program undertaken by Italy in Albania, her new stronghold in the Balkans.

Csaky's Visit a Mystery.

Speculation over the purpose of Count Csaky's visit has failed to find any confirmation in official circles. The press denied he sought Mussolini's support against German demands for the right to send an army to Hungary in case of war.

Another conjecture in foreign circles is that the axis powers, Germany and Italy, hope to make Csaky the go-between for direct negotiations between Warsaw and Berlin. Hungary has been friendly with Poland and with the axis powers, particularly Italy.

American Ambassador William Phillips and other foreign envoys, including the British, French, Polish, and Japanese ambassadors, are expected to seek appointments with Count Ciano this week, since the Hungarian-Italian talks prevented their visiting the foreign ministry last Friday.

Advises Quick Action.

Virginio Gayda, who is close to the government, wrote in La Voce d' Italia that "the time is near for resolution in the open political conflict between Germany and Poland."

"It is evident that the present state of tension created around the case of Danzig and the corridor can no longer last," Gayda said. "It will have to be settled, one way or another, within a few days."

The choice, he said, was up to Poland, which "still has several days —not too many—to consider." Like other editorial writers, he advised Poland to "leave France and Great Britain" and accept the Hitler plan.

"Don't engage in vain diplomatic skirmishes and perilous illusions," Gayda advised. "Within a few days it will be too late."

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Do you favor a shorter summer vacation for school children?

Where Answered.

At Belmont and Central avenues.

The Answers.

Mrs. Flora Beck, 6045 Melrose street, housewife.—No. Due to the fact that pupils have their studies carefully planned, the present school year is long enough. My daughter is a high school sophomore, and I believe she receives a well balanced education, crowded with study, within the terms.

Mrs. R. J. Dulmage, 6112 School street, housewife.—Yes, the vacation should be shortened. There is too much mischief on the streets during vacation, and it is getting on my nerves. Most of the noise and pranks are among children up to the age of 12 or 13. I have nothing against a long vacation for high school pupils.

Frank Janesek, 3041 41st place, machinist.—No. Let the vacation remain the way it is now. It is not too long. Kids study about nine months in a year, and that's plenty. They will have to work the rest of their lives after they get out of school, so why not let them have some fun now? I have a boy in grade school.

Miss Esther Sandby, 6046 Melrose street, stenographer.—I think the present vacation of ten and a half weeks is just about right. Children should have all the opportunity possible to get sunshine and exercise, especially in a large city. Many of them have the chance to spend the time in summer camps. Health shouldn't be forgotten in training the mind.

Fred C. Leusch, 5804 Henderson street, insurance business.—I'd say vacations should be shorter to make life easier for the women folks. My son here, who is going into grade 6-A, doesn't agree with me. From July 4 to Labor day would be better. Children are around their homes so much that mothers don't have time to rest or go out.

BRITISH OFFICIALS CUT VACATION AS WAR FEVER RISES

View This Week as Most Critical Since 1918.

LONDON, Aug. 20 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain and Great Britain's key ministers interrupted their vacations today for a meeting to consider the international situation.

The prime minister, who has been fishing in Scotland since parliament recessed two weeks ago, expected to leave for London tomorrow night, but he left this afternoon instead.

War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha cut short his vacation on the French Riviera. He was in shorts on the beach when a messenger handed him a telegram. Within half an hour he had dressed and caught a train for Paris.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, who returned unexpectedly yesterday, went back to his home in Yorkshire this morning, but only to spend the day.

Press Turns Pessimistic.

These developments came as the British press said the coming week may be the "most critical since the world war."

[In Washington there was a feeling that a grave crisis is inevitable before Oct. 1, but Secretary of State Hull and a number of key men in the European section of the state department remained on vacation.]

The ministers will meet Tuesday. They will consider a report of European developments during the last two weeks.

The seriousness with which the government views the situation was indicated by the fact that Halifax spent Saturday afternoon at the foreign office. Ordinarily cabinet ministers are not at their offices from Friday to Monday.

The press reflected a changed tone. The Sunday Express, which for several weeks has been declaring "There will be no war this year," made no such mention today. The conservative Sunday Observer headed its main diplomatic story "A Critical Week Ahead."

Urges Soviet Concessions.

"Two actions which the government steadily has refused to carry out can end the suspense and preserve peace. Lord Halifax in 24 hours can reach Moscow, and, by according to the soviet union the same trust shown to Poland, can bring the negotiations for a pact to a successful conclusion.

"Mr. Chamberlain can recall parliament and end the danger that Hitler will carry his bluff to the point of war by declaring in unequivocal terms the readiness of Britain, France, and the soviet union to stand with all peaceful nations in defense of peace."

DECLARE 'SECOND MUNICH' WAITS ON AMERICAN SIGNAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 20.—The Buenos Aires Herald, in a letter from its diplomatic correspondent in London, dated Aug. 9 and printed here today, declares that Germany, aided by the British cabinet and the Bank of England, is seeking America's "blessing for a second Munich."

"With active collaboration and advice from important elements in and around the British cabinet and the Bank of England," the letter says, "the German government is staging the biggest attempt yet seen to involve President Roosevelt, Secretary Cordell Hull, and the United States government as a whole in a European entanglement, with an American blessing for a second Munich as the immediate objective.

"German official circles are claiming in London that they have brought Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull into camp."

POLES PIN HOPES ON BRITISH PACT OF MILITARY AID

View Signing as Reply to Nazi Pressure.

WARSAW, Aug. 20 (AP).—Polish circles expressed confidence tonight that formal signing of the British-Polish pact of mutual assistance would take place within a few days—possibly on Tuesday.

The pact would make permanent the present interim agreement by which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the British parliament on March 31 that Britain was pledged to fight for Poland, if Polish independence were menaced and Poland herself took military action.

Chamberlain in that speech said he announced the pledge to make the British position clear while military details of the formal pact were being agreed upon.

Effective Reply to Germany.

Poles said they considered an announcement that the pact has been formally established would be an effective reply to what one Polish informant termed, "Germany's latest efforts to isolate Poland from the western powers through unprecedented propaganda."

Meanwhile Poland was moving up troops to her southwestern frontier to match those which Germany moved into Slovakia.

Aside from some counter accusations as regards treatment of Poles in Germany, the Polish press today for the most part exercised restraint. There were descriptive accounts of the German press' anti-Polish campaign but no comment.

Still Hope to Avoid War.

A feeling that the situation was becoming increasingly grave, however, was being strengthened in the public mind. One responsible Pole said, "Germany is reaching the limit in words and only action, it would seem, remains."

Although the developing situation was not regarded with optimism, many foreign observers stated their opinion that war this year must not yet be regarded as inevitable.

Some circles expressed the belief that the stage was being set for a final offer by Germany and that this offer would be made against a background of acute political tension.

Officials said there was no change in the attitude of Poland, especially her stated determination not to negotiate under intimidation.

NICE, Aug. 20.—Two Italian soldiers were arrested today at Saint Martin Vesubie, near Mention, after they had deserted over the French border. They were allowed to remain in France and were kept temporarily by the Franco-Italian Legion.

JAPS TAKE GRAVE VIEW OF SHANGHAI SHOOTING AFFAIR

Policeman Involved Kept Guarded by British.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20 (AP).—The killing of two pro-Japanese Chinese policemen and wounding of six others by a British policeman with a submachine gun yesterday threatened to develop into another major incident aggravating British-Japanese relations in the far east.

Arrows locate Shanghai and Hongkong where Japanese threaten new anti-British acts.

"We take a grave view of this affair," the Japanese embassy announced after representatives of the Japanese army and navy held an emergency meeting aboard the cruiser Idzumo, flagship of the Japanese fleet in China waters.

Japanese reports said the battleship conferees "reached important decisions regarding the shooting incident designed to meet whatever attitude international settlement authorities may adopt concerning the affair."

Claims Self-Defense.

The British policeman, W. L. Kinloch of Scotland, a sergeant of the settlement police, was placed under a heavy armed guard of British troops and settlement police in the British hospital. Foreign authorities were taking no chances of being caught unprepared in event of attempts at reprisals.

The settlement police version of the affair was that some of Kinloch's adversaries, members of the Japanese controled Chinese police squad, were armed and in plainclothes and that Kinloch had no way of identifying them.

"They assumed a threatening attitude," settlement police said, "and one of them fired on Kinloch, causing him to use his submachine gun."

Kinloch said "some one in the Chinese group shot me in the back and I then went into action."

His injury was not regarded as serious.

Japanese military authorities charged that the settlement police plotted the incident as revenge for the slaying of H. P. Krogh, a Dane, on Friday in the residential district.

"Settlement police," it was alleged, "believe Krogh was killed by local Chinese police who were avenging Krogh's insult to their flag."

Settlement police termed the Japanese charges absurd. Krogh, who lived for a few hours after the attack, denied he had insulted the Chinese flag.

Hongkong Threatened.

HONGKONG, Aug. 20 (AP).—A Japanese threat to "isolate" the British crown colony of Hongkong was reported from Canton today. Despite Tokio assurances that the Japanese do not intend to blockade the port, Hongkong learned that the Japanese army press spokesman in Canton made this statement yesterday:

"Britain may assist the Chiang Kai-shek regime if she pleases, but the Japanese army will be obliged to sever Chinese transport routes even if it entails isolation of Hongkong. If Britain refuses to discontinue acts benefiting Chiang Kai-shek, a blockade of the Hongkong perimeter is inevitable."

The statement was semi-officially interpreted as an effort to weaken the British stand in the Tokio negotiations over the British-Japanese dispute at Tientsin.

Last Wednesday's Japanese occupation of Poan, Shumchun, and Shatakok accomplished a closure of the border between Hongkong and Kwangtung province, the 22 mile land border to the north.

JAPS EXTEND AIR RAID AREA; KILL MANY IN KIATING

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 20.—A Japanese air force made the westernmost raid in Szechwan province when it bombed Kiating, metropolis of an extensive silk producing district 150 miles west of Chungking, yesterday.

An American missionary, who was in a China National Aviation corporation plane that circled over Kiating after the bombing, said half the city was in flames. Hundreds of persons were reported killed and injured. Kiating is an education and mission center but it was thought that foreign mission properties were outside the bombed zone. The city is crowded with refugees from the lower Yangtze and is the site of Wuhan university.

Chikiang, south of Chungking, also was reported bombed. The local American committee for the allocation of American relief funds in west China sent a specially chartered plane to Kiating with doctors, nurses, and medical supplies.

JAPAN REJECTS BRITISH BID FOR 9 POWER PARLEY

None of Them Concerned, Says Tokio Statement.

TOKIO, Aug. 21 [Monday], (AP).—The Japanese foreign office, in a statement today, insisted that economic questions at Tientsin are purely British-Japanese matters, and rejected as beyond comprehension a British suggestion for the participation of other powers in the discussion.

The statement, however, avoided an actual declaration that the British-Japanese conference here to settle issues growing out of Japan's blockade of the Tientsin concession is to be broken off.

The statement was in answer to a formal British rejection of Japanese contentions that Chinese silver deposited in foreign concession banks should be turned over to Japan, and British support of Chinese national currency withdrawn.

Britain declared economic questions concerned other nations and that "all parties to the nine power and other treaties must be given an opportunity to express their views."

INVITES OTHER POWERS

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The British government tonight dangled before Tokio the prospect of an international conference about Japanese economic and political grievances, at the same time extending a tacit invitation to America and France to join in the discussion on Nippon's demand for recognition of the so-called "new order" in China.

The foreign office issued a statement giving its version of the clash which led to suspension of the Anglo-Japanese talks on Tientsin. It is indicated that the British government is willing to reopen and extend the basis of the talks as the Japanese demand, if other powers can be induced to take part.

Ready to Settle Issues.

According to the foreign office, considerable progress was made in the Tokio talks until the Japanese put forward the currency proposals and did not confine the talks to local issues at Tientsin.

No discussion on economic proposals submitted by Japan could lead to any useful result on a purely Anglo-Japanese basis, the foreign office said, adding that the British government had "expressed willingness to examine the position afresh, provided the interests of all parties can be safeguarded. For this purpose presumably would be necessary for both governments to consult with and have regard for the views of third parties."

Won't Shelve Questions.

The British government, it is announced, indicated to the Japanese government that it does not desire to shelve the questions raised in the Tokio talks and realizes that these issues will have to be fully discussed.

The British government already has made it clear "that it does not regard treaties as eternal and is prepared to consider any constructive proposals which the Japanese government may have to make regarding modifications of existing treaties."

Dysentery Strikes Tokio; Report 200 Cases Daily

TOKIO, Aug. 20 (AP).—Health authorities appealed to Tokio citizens today to take extra precautions to prevent the spread of dysentery, which has broken out in the capital.

The Japan Times said a record number of 4,000 persons were suffering in Tokio, with an average of 200 new cases being reported daily.

The police came over and gave a parking ticket to the owner—Melvin Dubin Jr., assistant manager of the hotel.

TIENTSIN REGION SWEPT BY WORST FLOOD IN HISTORY

Smashes Jap Blockade; Famine Threatens.

TIENTSIN, Aug. 20 (AP).—Flood waters of the Hai river and other streams poured into Tientsin tonight in one of the greatest disasters in this region's history. The water [illegible] was rising about two inches every hour, with the crest still forty-eight hours away.

Heavy loss of life and property was feared in the inundated area beyond Tientsin, where there is a vast Chinese population, but communications had been swept away, preventing exact reports. The nearby plains in some cases were under ten or more feet of water.

Rail traffic was crippled by sagging roadbeds and rising torrents. Where railroad embankments remained above water, they were covered by human beings seeking refuge.

In Tientsin thousands of men, women, and children—both Chinese and foreigners—sought safety as the flood waters approached.

Blockade Swept Away.

Dikes and embankments were battered down; the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions virtually was washed away. Late today the electricity supply failed, plunging the city into darkness.

Japanese sentries attempting to maintain their blockade of the concessions mounted boxes and barrels to stay above the water level.

"Stripping sheds," where persons entering and leaving the concessions have been examined, were flooded or washed away. A large portion of the Japanese barriers, including the electrified wire entanglements, were submerged or swept away.

Unable to Block Refugees.

Many British concession streets were submerged and crowds of refugees surged along in search of dry havens.

Thousands of homeless Chinese, without food or money and sometimes hardly clothed, surged into the foreign zones despite efforts of Japanese to maintain the blockade.

At the international race track, outside the foreign areas, 2,000 Chinese men, women and children, with large numbers of animals, were marooned in the grand stand. They had been without food for many hours. Within that area were many drowned animals, floating haystacks, houses, and other objects.

British volunteers sought to rescue refugees with infants and also the large numbers of aged and blind, but had no means of reaching those marooned outside the concessions.

U. S. Consulate Perilled.

The flood threatened the residence of United States Consul General John K. Caldwell. He moved to the United States marine barracks adjacent to the British concession. This haven appeared like an island behind embankments which the leathernecks had thrown up around the property.

The Japanese concession was under three feet of water. It was suffering more heavily than any foreign zone, although the greatest distress was outside Tientsin.

The French concession has suffered the least, with embankments hastily thrown up holding stoutly. Residents were husbanding their resources. The food problem was becoming more acute as supplies were virtually unobtainable and the influx of refugees made the demand greater.

G. O. P. PROGRAM PUTS NEW DEAL ON SPOT IN 1940

Democrats Are Forced to Defensive Tactics.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—The Republican objectives listed by Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. have joined the issue with the New Dealers in the 1940 presidential campaign that is getting under way.

Joseph W. Martin Jr.

Reaction to the twelve principles of action enunciated by the Massachusetts congressman, who won distinction by his leadership of successful opposition to the administration in the last session of congress has put the New Deal on the defensive.

Although Mr. Martin did not essay to outline the 1940 Republican platform. Republican leaders believe he struck the keynote of Republican appeal to the people next year to retire the New Deal from power. This program proposes to stop government spending to prime the business pump to balance the budget, and to remove restrictions on recovery.

Republicans to Attack.

With the Republicans attacking and the New Dealers defending along this line, the 1940 election canvass is already in full swing. Discussion of Republican and Democratic candidates is in reality only a side issue to the alignment on issues.

The current improvement of business and the indices of a still greater improvement in the fall are being interpreted in the light of the paramount issue of 1940. The Republicans ascribe it to the successful resistance by congress in the last session to further socialistic experiments. According to their viewpoint business is going ahead because the attitude of congress demonstrated that the "New Deal is finished" and because Republican victory in 1940 is discounted by industrialists and investors.

Cite Roosevelt Defeats.

This view is founded upon the rejection by congress of the President's 4 billion dollar spending-lending bill and other New Deal panaceas, curtailment of TVA competition with privately owned utilities and paving of the way to amend the labor relations act and possibly the wage-hour law next session.

Obtaining continuation of his monetary manipulation powers by an eyelash margin through a deal with the silver bloc, the President was beaten on tax revision and all other major issues by the coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats.

Col. Leonard P. Ayers, the noted Cleveland economist, regards the rejection of the lending-spending bill as the turning point to a protracted and definite business recovery. Mr. Roosevelt made it clear at a recent press conference that he anticipates a deepening of the depression as the result of defeat of his lending-spending program. Lesser New Dealers are attributing the current business recovery to the effect of pump priming previously provided for.

Martin's 12-Point Program.

1. Keep the United States out of war.
2. Move immediately to curb wasteful and reckless spending.
3. Repeal the repressive tax on undistributed corporate earnings, which has proved so harassing and dangerous to business, large and small.
4. Revise the remainder of the federal tax structure to eliminate or modify provisions retarding recovery.
5. Repeal the dangerous discretionary authority which the President now has over the monetary system.
6. Amend the national labor relations act by clarifying the mutual obligations of worker and employer and the duties of both toward the public to end paralyzing discord.
7. Define the area of government competition with private enterprise so business may create jobs with certainty as to the future.

Would Restore Markets.

8. Restore American markets to the American farmer and wage earner and develop new markets for agricultural products.
9. Adopt immediate legislation to rehabilitate the railroads to make secure the jobs of hundreds of thousands and the investments of savings banks and life insurance companies.
10. Create a special committee of congress to inquire into the effect of the reciprocal trade agreement policy on American industry and agriculture.
11. Clarify federal rules and regulations so industry and business may know what to expect.
12. Reject all experimental legislation not helpful in promoting recovery or which would subject agriculture, labor or industry to compulsory decrees of a burocracy.

Mr. Martin said that Republican policy in congress was founded on recognition of the vital relationship between government and business.

ROOSEVELT CUTS HIS FISHING CRUISE SHORT TO ATTEND TO WORK

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, EN ROUT TO HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 20 (AP) [By Wireless].—President Roosevelt cut short his vacation cruise in Newfoundland waters today and headed back from Bonne bay to attend to pressing official work mailed from the White House to Halifax.

The work was described as principally authorizations for numerous WPA projects requiring presidential approval before operations could be started. Mail could not be sent by plane to the presidential ship, the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa, because of fog.

The party was expected to reach Halifax late tomorrow afternoon. According to tentative plans, the President will arrive back at Annapolis, Md., Friday. His trip up to today has totaled about 1,600 miles.

MOTHER AND TWO LEAVE ON ROUND WORLD AIR TRIP

An Indiana mother and her two sons boarded a transport plane at the Chicago airport early this morning for the first leg of a round the world journey to be made entirely by air. The travelers are Mrs. H. H. Walt, 45 years old, whose home is near Chesterton, and Horatio, 22, and Nathaniel Walt, 19.

Mrs. Walt has been planning for years to trave around the world. She and her sons left for the west coast at 3 a. m. There they will transfer to a China bound Clipper ship. They plan to stop over in Siam, Burma, Africa, and several European countries.

DISCUSS BUILDING PLANS TODAY FOR CRIMINAL HOME

The type of buildings to be erected for a new institution to supplement the St. Charles School for Boys will be discussed today by members of a state commission headed by State Senator Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton]. Fifty-six inmates have escaped this year from the present unwalled, unfenced, training school.

The commission will meet at Dwight after inspecting the penal institution for women located there. One of the newest state institutions, the women's prison was constructed on the unit basis, permitting expansion as the number of inmates increases. This is favored for the proposed $250,000 security school by A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare.

Bowen is ill and will not be able to attend the meeting, it was learned last night. He was found to be suffering from a streptococcus infection of the throat when he arrived Saturday to inspect the state hospital for insane at Bartonville. Physicians placed him in bed there immediately.

67 PWA PROJECT SPONSORS TOLD: GET BUSY OR QUIT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20 (AP).—The Public Works administration ordered sponsors of sixty-seven projects today to give evidence by Aug. 31 that they intended to get busy or cancel their contracts. The projects represented $202,176,787 of construction costs. Congress set June 30, 1949, as the deadline for completion of PWA contracts.

The Chicago projects on the lagging lists are filtration plant, $12,035,000; bridge and grade separation, $1,727,372; armory, $1,270,909; hospital, $1,435,909, and schools, $7,000,000. 'MISS BRITAIN' OUTSINGS STORM IN GRANT PARK

Hundreds Applaud Girl in Second Appearance.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Clear skies and an audience of 90,000 Saturday. Rain and wind and a few hundred listeners Sunday. Marjorie Farrage took it all in her stride.

It may be that this pretty blonde Miss Britain, who represented the British Isles at the tenth Chicagoland Music Festival Saturday night, will remember the applause of her small audience of Sunday as gratefully as she remembers the thunder of the 90,000 on the preceding evening. For those hardy survivors of a large crowd that had gathered before the Grant park band shell last night put up with two class A cloudbursts rather than go away without hearing her.

Achieves Real Triumph.

By the time she was ready to sing the fury of the rain had softened to a fine spatter, but a high wind added still further to the generally unsatisfactory quality of the weather.

Undismayed by rain and wind, or possibly moved to extra effort by the memories of England to which such behavior of the elements gave rise, Miss Farrage achieved a genuine triumph in her performance of "Cherry Ripe" and of the waltz song from "Tom Jones." So insistent was the applause that she was compelled to repeat the first song, and was let off then only on her plea that she had prepared no more music.

Her soprano voice was soft and luminous, her delivery confident and agile. There was apparent in everything she did a fine musical sense which demanded flexibility of line and variety of tone color. At 9:30 o'clock tonight she will sing again, this time over radio station W-G-N and the Mutual network.

The George Dasch orchestra provided accompaniments as well as several purely instrumental offerings. Among other things were performances of the preludes to the first and third acts of "Lohengrin." Mr. Dasch succeeded in making the often static music of the first highly dynamic and exciting. The other was broad, brilliant, joyful.

Miss Farrage was not the only vocalist of the evening. Freda Draper, resident contralto, sang Brahms' "Cradle Song" and airs from "La Gioconda" and "Carmen" in a smooth, round voice and with infectious feeling. The audience seemed willing to keep her at it all evening.

Kindness Rewarded

ROSALIE KNISHKERN.

New York, Aug. 20 [Special].—William J. Reilly, former usher, and Mrs. Rosalie Spatcher Knishkern, ballet dancer, will receive $141,429 and $55,780, respectively, for their kindness to Mrs. Edna Morss Allin Elliott.

This was learned yesterday in Surrogate's court, where an accounting by Reilly and William J. O'Shea, as executors of Mrs. Elliott's estate, disclosed that she left $409,680. Mrs. Elliott was a regular patron of the Roxy theater and Radio City music hall. She became acquainted with the dancer, who invited her back stage and introduced her to performers in the stage show and was kind and considerate in her attentions.

In her will Mrs. Elliott bequeathed the dancer stocks, bonds, and jewelry valued at $55,784, and named Reilly sole residuary legatee.

MUSICIANS WARN THEY'LL CONTEST RCA LICENSE PLAN

New York, Aug. 20 [Special].—The National Association of Performing Artists, through its general counsel, Maurice J. Speiser, served notice today on the RCA Manufacturing Company, Inc., that it would legally resist the company's proposed plan to license Victor and Bluebird phonograph records for radio broadcasting purposes.

At the same time, the association, headed by Fred Waring, orchestra leader, warned individual radio stations that the proposed RCA plan was not authorized by the artists. "Use of any of these records without a license duly obtained from us will be entirely at your own risk," the association announced.

Carrie Bond Regains Purse She Lost at Music Festival

The purse which Carrie Jacobs Bond, famous composer, lost Saturday night at the Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field was returned to her yesterday by Mrs. J. F. Reid, of 3 West Oak street. Mrs. Reid, who was seated near Mrs. Bond, found the purse on a seat after the composer had left the field.

MUSIC FESTIVAL DISCOVERS NEW VOICE SENSATION

Miss Britain Acclaimed; On Radio Tonight.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

At 10:30 o'clock Saturday night the tenth and most magnificent of all the Chicagoland Music Festivals passed into history. But it will long be remembered as the festival that brought to America and the world a new singing star.

It was this festival that was responsible for the contest conducted in the British Isles by the London Daily Sketch, which found the golden voice of Marjorie Farrage.

It seems almost unbelievable that seventeen days ago—on the morning of Aug. 4—Miss Farrage was unknown as a singer outside Darlington, England, and its immediate territory.

To Sing on W-G-N.

The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., which sponsor the Music Festival, brought her across the Atlantic by airplane and on to this city.

At 9:30 o'clock tonight Miss Farrage will sing on a coast to coast broadcast over radio station W-G-N and the Mutual network. The program is the Pageant of Melody with the W-G-N orchestra conducted by Henry Weber.

Carrie Jacobs Bond, the beloved composer of "The End of a Perfect Day" and "I Love You Truly," praised Miss Farrage before 90,000 at the festival and forecast a great career for her.

And in connection it should be said hastily that Mrs. Bond is not 79 years old, as was unfortunately stated in the festival story Sunday morning. She is not even 78 yet.

Mrs. Bond Plan Visit.

"I should say I'm not 79!" she remarked, accompanying this with what Edward Barry, music critic, calls her "wicked little chuckle." She is not a bit tired after her strenuous week in Chicago. She will leave the city Tuesday morning to visit in Chicagoland and later will go to New York before returning to her home in Hollywood, Cal.

And while about the business of straightening out misunderstandings, the matter of who won first honors in the class B women's choral contests might be set aright.

First place went to the Echo Women's Choral club of Chicago, directed by Adeline Preyss. Second place went to the Watseka, Ill., Women's chorus, conducted by Grace Burnham. In the list of winners their standings were reversed.

And as for the eleventh Music Festival, Soldiers' field already is engaged for the third Saturday night in August, 1940, and preliminary plans have been made for the spectacle that will unfold that night.

Invitations to Tour Chicago Sent to 500 Midwest Cities

Invitations to join specially conducted tours of Chicago museums, sponsored by the Chicago Museum Tours committee, were sent Saturday to luncheon clubs in 500 middle western cities by Chicago branches of the Rotary and Lions clubs. The tours, originally planned by the park district, are to be operated in conjunction with railroads providing excursion rates to Chicago.

NIGHT LIFE CHECK FORGER ACCUSED BY NINTH VICTIM

Robert Russell, 4139 Washington boulevard, a generous young man who has been paying his way with forged travelers' checks, was identified yesterday at the police showup by his ninth victim. The victim, Herman Feldman, a grocer at 3946 North Ashland avenue, said he cashed a bogus $23.75 check for Russell two weeks ago.

Russell was arrested Saturday night by Sergt. Timothy Dwyer of the Pekin Inn station with his night club companions, Miss Marjorie Mitchell, 20, of Hudson, in McLean county and Arthur Parkhurst, 24, of 1057 East 47th street, an ex-convict. Russell and Parkhurst will be arraigned tomorrow in Felony court.

FORESTS ABLAZE OVER 1,000 MILE PACIFIC FRONT

Lumber Town in Ashes; 600 Homeless.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 20 (AP).—Hard driven crews of fire fighters appeared to be gaining control today on some fronts of the many fires crackling through forests and brush lands from central California to British Columbia, over 1,000 miles.

At least 600 persons were homeless. One town lay in ashes. Hundreds of farm buildings had been damaged or destroyed. Standing and cut timber losses mounted so rapidly there was no estimate of the total.

To curtail further outbreaks, British Columbia ordered full closure of forests on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland. Logging in western Washington was ordered suspended tomorrow.

Town Is Destroyed.

In southern Oregon the little town of Pine Ridge, 35 miles from Klamath Falls, was destroyed last night. In two hours the fire, which started in a pile of cut lumber, razed a box factory, lumber shed, planer mill, a hotel and store, and 200 dwellings, and burned several million feet of cut lumber. Then it jumped to a rich stand of yellow pine and last reports said it had cut a swath a mile wide and six miles deep.

Charles Coons, office manager of the mill, said the loss was about 2 million dollars.

Eight Families Routed.

In Tillamook county, Oregon, a huge blaze rode the wind toward the coast on four fronts. Eight families were driven from their homes.

Fire on Vashon Island threatened Burton, Wash., for several hours.

High wind and low humidity made fire control work in the Pacific northwest difficult.

California conditions were more favorable. Fog, low temperatures, and high humidity aided men in the Los Padres national forest in Monterey county and officials predicted the fire would be controled today.

The Cerra Alta fire, also in the Los Padres national forest, in San Luis Obispo county, was believed well in hand. It had swept over 5,000 acres between Atascadero and Santa Margarita, burning toward the widely known Hale ranch of Baron von Schroeder.

In north Idaho a fire 10 miles from Kellogg still was out of control.

LAXITY CHARGED IN SOVIET DRIVE AGAINST RELIGION

MOSCOW, Aug. 20 (AP).—A complaint that religion is not being stamped out rapidly enough in soviet Russia was made today by the communist party newspaper Pravda, which sharply scored schools, labor unions, party organizations, and newspapers for "neglecting anti-religious propaganda."

"Tens of millions have got rid of their superstitions," the newspaper said in a front page editorial, "but it would be incorrect to think that religion has been finally extinguished—there are still more than a few traditions of capitalism in the conscience of constructors of society and we face the great and responsible problem of their elimination.

"Even in cities and among workers there still exist people who have not broken with religion. Many continue to observe religious ceremonies and holidays."

FOUR ARRESTED IN SHOOTING AT PICNIC GROVE

Four men were charged with disorderly conduct yesterday after Willow Springs county highway police investigated the shooting earlier in the day of Joseph Bojorinas at Simon's picnic grove, 117th street and Homan avenue, Worth township. Bojorinas, who is 23 years old and lives at 3260 West 108th street, was wounded during a quarrel and was taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital.

Those arrested are Frank Simon, owner of the grove; Gladstone Serviss, grove caretaker; Thomas Brennan, 10929 Whipple street, and William Sieh, 10935 Whipple street, companions of Bojorinas. They will be arraigned Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Henry J. Pendl of Willow Springs.

FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE.

Edward Howland, 41 years old, was found dead of a heart attack yesterday in his car in a garage near his home at 1727 Humboldt boulevard.

GOOD TIME GANG IDENTIFIED BY 2 HOLDUP VICTIMS

Four members of the Good Time Gang were identified at the detective bureau showup yesterday by two robbery victims. The gang, a band of young gunmen, got its name because it spent the proceeds of its robberies on good times.

Those identified were David Welser, 19 years old, and Richard Johnson, 21, both of 3040 Warren boulevard; Joseph Marzano, 18 of 920 South Western avenue, and Leonard Field, 17, of 14 South Kedzie avenue.

Mrs. Sarah Foreman of 6334 North Talman avenue said the four robbed her of $53 Aug. 8 in front of 2611 Devon avenue. Herbert Tennant of 6824 Throop street identified them as the gunmen who robbed him of $63 Aug. 13 in front of 4158 63d street.

INJURED IN FALL; DIES.

Peter Mikucki, 60 years old, 2109 North Parkside avenue, died in County hospital yesterday of complications resulting from injuries suffered in a fall Dec. 15.

SLICED MUSIC

By CALEB

IT LOOKS like a lovely cake. It is a lovely cake—and in a lovely setting, too: sheerweight cellophane, a la hatbox style, all ready for the occasion and the cutting. The occasion? Well, it may be a special one — wedding; birthday; shower; anniversary; a "kiddie party"; perhaps a Halloween, Easter, Christmas, or New Year's feast; a "Bon Voyage" collation . . . or just any jolly dinner gathering of anticipative guests.

You see, it isn't the occasion that occasions the grand surprise of this particular cake. It's the cutting! Notice that small red mark on the doily edge underneath the cake? That's where you make the first thrust of your knife . . . and as you do, suddenly comes welling up to your astonished ears a gush of silver-tinkling music!

If it's Christmastide the festive board commemorates, you hear O Tannenbaum, or Jingle Bells, issuing in airy strains from your cake's enchanted depths. For a youngsters' party, the tune may be Elmer, the Elephant, or Parade of the Wooden Soldiers. For birthdays, the cake sings Happy Birthday to You—for New Year's it's Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here. From Brahms' Lullaby to Anchors Aweigh you can match the music to the meal with three dozen different tunes. . . .

Yes, it all originated with someone sentimental—a Swedish baker on one of the backstreets of New York City. And acquisition of the particular "singing cake" of your preference is merely a matter of stepping up to our Colonial Cake Counter, where this culinary chef d'oeuvre is on display; specifying the kind of cake you want—flavor, colors, layers, ornamentation, and your musical selection—and within three days your order is flown, oven-fresh, to its destination.

Fashioned in Switzerland, the sturdy music-box is pre-wound through the bottom with the key provided—and after the last savory crumbs have disappeared, its fairy melody lives on indefinitely. The old saying still holds good: "You can't have your cake, and eat it." But now comes this surprise of the bakers' art, to substitute a new version, ten times pleasanter: "Long after your cake is gone, its music lingers on."

Judging, too, from the sudden popularity of this Field innovation, our buyers' alertness for novelty is as welcome to the public as their customary insistence on quality.

TIRE CHANGING CRASHES KILL TWO AUTOISTS

Swaying Trailer Truck Hurls One 80 Feet.

One man was dead and another was in a hospital critically injured yesterday as a result of an accident in Michigan City Saturday night in which a speeding trailer truck struck two motorists changing a tire. Yesterday afternoon, in Wheaton, a driver was killed when his car struck an automobile whose owner was changing a tire in the outer lane of Roosevelt road.

Hugh McCarthy Jr. Killed crossing road.

The man killed at Michigan City was Louis Palmateer, 62 years old, 3424 Michigan avenue, East Chicago. His son, James, 22, of the same address, was taken to Clinic hospital in Michigan City.

Hurled 80 Feet Over Walk.

They were on their way to a bingo game in Washington park, Michigan City, when their left rear tire went flat in front of 730 West 4th street. Palmateer began transferring the spare tire to the wheel while his son directed trafic around the car with the aid of a flashlight. Their wives and Louis' daughter, Thelma, walked ahead to the park.

The truck plowed into the rear of the car, shoving it and the two men 80 feet up over the sidewalk. The driver, Harold W. Hulet, Lovington, Mich., was held by police for the inquest today.

Chest Crushed by Wheel.

In the tire change accident at Wheaton the victim was Alois Janata, 67 years old, of 3115 Karlov avenue. He drove into the back of the car of Lawrence Ivins, 29, of 3101 Fifth avenue. Janata's chest was crushed against the steering wheel and he died on the way to a first aid station.

Police said Ivins' machine was parked on the concrete, in the outer lane of the highway. Ivins suffered a possible skull fracture. His wife, Frances, and their two daughters, Mary Frances, 6, and Roberta, 4, were standing at the roadside and were not hurt.

Janata's wife, Mary, 64 years old, suffered a fractured left rib and possible skull fracture. Miss Emma Seles, 56, the other occupant of the Janata car, also was injured. All were brought to Cook County hospital.

First Death in Nineteen Months.

It was the first automobile fatality in Wheaton in nineteen months. The accident occurred at Roosevelt road and West street, a block from the scene of the last fatality.

Hugh McCarthy Jr., 30 years old, 4312 North Keeler avenue, son of Police Captain Hugh McCarthy of the Stockyards station, died in the Highland Park hospital. He was struck by an automobile while walking across Milwaukee avenue half a mile north of the Cook county line Saturday night. McCarthy had left his own car to get a sandwich. The driver of the other car was David R. Edfeldt of Fox Lake.

James Cavanaugh, 35 years old, 1558 West 79th street, a hoisting engineer for the sanitary district, was injured fatally when he was struck by an automobile at 79th street and Ashland avenue. The driver of the car was Stanley Milka, 5442 Bishop street.

Edward Miksa, 25, of 3137 54th avenue, Cicero, was injured fatally when he was thrown from a delivery box on the side of a motorcycle on Joliet road near 48th street in Lyons township. Edward Schultz Jr., 3210 West 25th street, who was operating the motorcycle, said he stopped suddenly to avoid hitting an automobile that cut in front of him, and Miksa pitched forward from his place atop the sidecar box.

Chris Schiek, 64 years old, 3315 South Ashland avenue, died last night in Mercy hospital as the result of an accident Aug. 15 when a truck backed over his ankle in the Armour & Co. garage in the stockyards.

Earl T. Monten, 46 years old, 2825 Elston avenue, assistant superintendent of yards for the Pullman company, died in Alexian Brothers' hospital of injuries suffered Friday night when he was struck by the car of a hit-and-run driver at Diversey and Western avenues.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 515 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of this number, 400 were killed in Chicago, where 13,540 persons were injured in trafic accidents in the same period.

FIND POSTOFFICE ARCADE WILL DAM CONGRESS STREET

Claim It's Too Little for Superhighway Use.

BY HAL FOUST.

When Chicago's new $21,000,000 postoffice was built, a motor arcade was constructed through the immense building so that it would not interfere with the future development of Congress street as a major east-west trafic artery.

But yesterday the Chicago Motor club completed a survey which shows that the arcade would be able to accommodate only 43 per cent of the maximum trafic which could be handled by the proposed superhighway in Congress street westward from the postoffice. Only this much of the inbound rush hour trafic in the proposed superhighway would be able to cross Canal street and pass through the arcade beneath the postoffice, the survey disclosed.

Overlook Outlet Provisions.

The 43 per cent estimate was reached by assuming that a ready outlet would be available for the trafic passing through the arcade en route to the central business district to the northeast.

The study further found that there is no such ready outlet provided in construction plans advocated by promoters of a Congress street slum clearance parkway. The capacity of this proposed outlet was calculated as 41 per cent of the capacity of the intake across Canal street. The capacity of this outlet was further calculated as 17.7 per cent of the capacity of the proposed superhighway pavement reaching Canal street from the west.

"This definitly establishes the inadequacy for superhighway trafic volumes of the passageway built through the postoffice," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the motor club.

Arcade Called Bottleneck.

"Even if pavements of genuine superhighway character were built east from a Congress street bridge across the river, the peak usage of the utility westward would be cut to 43 per cent by this bottleneck in the government building. Without this extension eastward to remove a cork from the bottleneck, one lane of superhighway east to Canal could carry more trafic than could go through the postoffice and into the central business district."

Four lanes for eastbound superhighway trafic, as provided in publicized proposals for Congress street, would have a capacity estimated by the motor club at 6,800 cars an hour. The experience of New York's Holland tunnel would place the figure at 7,600 cars an hour. The experience of Chicago's outer drive would place the figure at 7,080 cars an hour.

Grade Crossing Cuts Flow.

The number of eastbound cars able to enter the postoffice arcade would be limited by the grade crossing of busy Canal street necessitating a stop and go light to accommodate north and south trafic heavier than La Salle street carries at Wacker drive. The motor club engineers placed a theoretical eastbound capacity of the arcade at 2,900 cars an hour. A survey of typical light controled intersections would place the arcade's receiving capacity from the west at 2,570 cars an hour.

These theoretical figures are based on an assumption that streets to the east would be able to absorb this volume of trafic. The publicized plan to terminate the Congress street development at Wells street would dump through trafic from the arcade onto Franklin street and onto Wells street, now receiving nearly their maximum possible usage from street cars, heavy trucking, and purely local trafic. The motor club engineers, from field surveys, calculated that no more than 1,200 cars an hour could be removed from this eastern terminal of the improvement.

Fear "Log Jam" in Arcade.

"In the arcade," said Hayes, "the log jam of eastbound cars unable to exit would build up at a rate of 1,700 automobiles an hour. In 12 minutes, at this rate, the blocked cars would pack Congress street from Canal street, through the arcade and across the bridge to Wells street.

"Before this blockade backed up through the postoffice, the log jam of eastbound trafic on the superhighway would grow at a rate of 2,400 cars an hour, assuming that 1,500 motorists an hour would escape this blockade by turning into Canal street. After the arcade was jammed, the arrival of 6,800 cars an hour on the superhighway, with only 1,200 an hour easing into the arcade and 1,500 an hour escaping into Canal street, would leave 4,100 an hour stalled. In an hour the superhighway would be blocked three and a half miles; stalled cars would extend bumper to bumper in four columns back to Homan avenue."

Writes Note to Son, Then Slashes Wrist and Dies

Mrs. Meta Krenz, 68 years old, died in Clinic hospital, Michigan City, yesterday afternoon a few hours after she had slashed her left wrist and forearm with a razor blade in the basement of her home at 1310 Kentucky street. She was found by her son, Harry Westphal, when he came downstairs for breakfast. He discovered a note on the kitchen table reading: "You will find me in the cellar —Mother."

MAP COURT FIGHT ON MILK CONTROL PLAN OF WALLACE

Dealers Warn Move Will Boost Prices.

The contemplated order by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace placing the Chicago milk market under federal price control will be contested in the federal courts, representatives of dealers and farmers declared yesterday. They said they will seek injunctions restraining the government from putting into effect any milk marketing agreement which will not be a "just one for all parties concerned."

On Saturday Wallace called for a referendum to be held this week among Chicago milk producers and dairymen to determine their stand on a tentative control plan intended to increase the average amounts now paid to farmers by dealers.

Farmers Hold Balance.

If two-thirds of the milk producers [figured by volume rather than by individuals] and one-half the dealers approve, Wallace can declare his plan in force. If the farmers approve and the dealers disapprove, the plan can still be put into effect with President Roosevelt's permission.

Paul Potter, executive secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., asserted that many dealers—large and small alike—are planning to fight the control plan. He said that if the prices called for in the tentative agreement become effective it is likely dealers may have to raise retail prices.

"If the proposed plan is approved, as seems likely," Potter said, "there will be a number of injunction suits filed. Single dealers are now contemplating this and it is possible the Associated Milk Dealers may also file such a suit as a unit."

Similar action will be taken by 200 farmers in McHenry and Boone counties, according to their attorney, Edgar J. Cook. The farmers, who comprise the Farmers' Coöperative Milk company, supply milk to about sixty cut rate dealers in the Chicago area.

"As far as I can see, the farmers have nothing to gain from the plan outlined by Mr. Wallace," Cook declared.

P. M. A. Producers Meet Tonight.

Members of the Pure Milk association, which requested the government to establish price control in the Chicago area, are reported to be in favor of the agreement. These producers, numbering nearly 12,000—more than the two-thirds needed for approval—will hold district meetings tonight and the vote regarding the plan will be cast by association's board of directors tomorrow.

Wallace's control plan divides milk sold into three classes. Class 1 milk [fluid milk bottled and sold] would be valued at 70 cents per hundred pounds [46.5 quarts] above condensory prices from July through November, 55 cents above condensory prices from December through April, and 45 cents above the basic price in May and June. Prices for class 2 milk, which is utilized in cream and ice cream, and for class 3, the grade used for all other purposes, would be graduated downward.

Eagles' Leaders Review Parade

Delegates of 42 States Join In Spectacle.

Fifteen thousand uniformed members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles marched in Michigan avenue yesterday in a colorful three hour parade which was the climax of the Eagles' forty-first annual grand aerie convention. The convention ends today.

Delegates from forty-two states and Alaska and Hawaii were in the line of march. Crack drum and bugle corps, spectacular drill platoons led by short skirted drum majorettes, and more than a dozen bands escorted the marchers. Floats portraying the Eagles' work also were in the parade.

Curb Lines Are Packed.

Grand Marshal Charles Sacks of Akron, O., led the parade, which formed at Wacker drive and moved south in Michigan avenue between packed curblines to Roosevelt road.

Also in the parade were the three teams which won prizes in contests held Friday and Saturday for the exemplification of the Eagles' ritual. They were the women's auxiliary degree team of the Kokomo, Ind., aerie No. 255; the men's team from the South Framingham, Mass., aerie No. 894, and the men's team from the Fond du Lac, Wis., aerie No. 270.

Drill Team Winners.

First prize in the national championship contest for men's drill teams No. 285. The McKeesport women's went to the McKeesport, Pa., aerie, team scored first in the national championship contest for teams of the women's auxiliary. The Rockford, Ill., aero, No. 392, won the national drum and bugle corps championship. The Elgin, Ill., aerie, No. 1407, was awarded the national championship for women's auxiliary teams.

At a grand aerie session earlier yesterday in the Morrison hotel John A. Abel of Marion, O., was chosen to succeed Dr. Fred C. Dilley of Brazil, Ind., as grand worthy president of the Eagles. Abel formerly was grand worthy vice president.

ANOTHER MAIN ROUTE INTO NEW YORK CITY BECOMES A TOLL ROAD

New York, Aug. 20 (AP).—The cost of motoring into and out of metropolitan New York was raised again today when 10 cent toll booths were installed on another major gateway to the city.

The new toll system, opening at 8 a. m. tomorrow, will nick motorists on the Hutchinson river parkway in Westchester county, one of the main northern approaches to the city, ten cents for each car.

Virtually blockaded by toll booths, Manhattan motorists may leave the city only by devious toll beating routes that may take them miles off the main highways or by paying such tolls as these:

George Washington bridge, 50 cents.
Bear Mountain bridge to West Point, 90 cents and up, according to number of passengers.
Holland and Lincoln tunnels from Manhattan to New Jersey, 50 cents.
Henry Hudson highway, 10 cents.
Merritt parkway, into Connecticut, 10 cents.
Hudson river ferries, 25 to 40 cents.

JOAN FONTAINE, ACTRESS, WEDS BRIAN AHERNE

Del Monte, Cal., Aug. 20 (AP).—Brian Aherne, British stage star, and Joan Fontaine, Hollywood film actress, were married today in St. John's chapel by the Rev. Theodore Bell, Episcopalian minister.

Miss Fontaine was attended by her sister, Olivia de Havilland, motion picture actress. The bride wore a period gown of white satin with tight sleeves, hooped skirt, and a long circular train.

Aherne wore formal morning dress. Louis D. Lighton of Bel Air, Cal., acted as best man. Neither Miss Fontaine nor Aherne had been married previously. In applying for the license they gave their ages respectively as 21 and 37.

N. Y. HOUSEWIVES FEEL PINCH OF MILK SHORTAGE

Accuse CIO Led Strikers of Deceit in Demand.

New York, Aug. 20 [Special].—Housewives in metropolitan New York who had difficulty in buying enough milk and cream for the week-end will have still greater trouble tomorrow when the strike of the Farmers' Dairy union goes into the seventh day.

About half of the city's milk supply has been cut off by the C. I. O. supported strikers who have destroyed $1,250,000 worth of milk in the last week.

Demand Uniform Base Price.

Four million four hundred thousand quarts is the city's daily requirement for all purposes and 3,200,000 quarts of this total are sold in bottles for home consumption. Today the city was short 2,200,000 quarts of fluid milk and the production of butter, ice cream, and other dairy products had to be curtailed sharply.

Strikers are demanding a uniform base price of $2.35 a hundredweight [47 quarts] for all milk they sell. According to J. O. Eastlack, secretary of the Metropolitan Milk Distributors' Bargaining agency, the strikers are misleading the public to believe that all they are asking is a 10 cent increase over the $2.25 price which the state-federal marketing order fixed for fluid milk in August. As a matter of fact, Eastlack says, the strikers are attempting to force much heavier increases on the public.

Under the July marketing order, the farmers received an average of about $1.50 for their milk. That sold for distribution in bottles brought $2.25 a hundredweight and the remainder which went to processing plants brought whatever price the law of supply and demand dictated.

Would Boost Dairy Products.

If an average price of $2.35 for all milk were granted, Eastlack said, the price for fluid milk would have to be raised more than $1 a hundred, an increase of more than two cents a quart which would make the price of bottled milk virtually prohibitive to many consumers.

The $2.35 average price also would cause a corresponding increase in the price of dairy product and make most of these prohibitive. Butter currently is 24 cents a pound on the New York exchange. If it were made from $2.35 milk the price would be two and a half times higher, or 60 cents a pound.

Holton V. Noyes, New York agriculture commissioner, in a broadcast speech to farmers tonight said strike leaders either were unfamiliar with the complexities of the milk industry or only interested in selfish gain. Noyes reminded the farmers that if dealers were forced to pay a flat price of $2.35 they would take only enough milk to supply their fluid demands and the farmers would be stuck with the surplus now sold for processing.

Pickets Destroy Property.

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia has called a meeting of distributors and representatives of the strikers tomorrow. Archie Wright, a former sailor who is chairman of the striking farmers, arrived here tonight for the meeting and predicted the strike would be over in a few days with the dealers surrendering to demands of the farmers. Distributors accuse Wright of attempting to wreck the milk marketing agreement.

Upstate, in the milk producing areas, violence and destruction of property by pickets continued today when neighbor sought to prevent neighbor from marketing his milk supply.

Clashes between state police and pickets were common. Hundreds of cans of milk were dumped into ditches and kerosene was used in some districts to spoil milk in tank trucks.

A deputy sheriff was knocked unconscious in a fight with pickets in St. Lawrence county and a dozen pickets incurred head injuries from riot sticks in the hands of police. At Hammond rails were greased to prevent a milk train from picking up a shipment on a siding. A tank truck was fired upon near Buskirk and thirty pickets were arrested near Herkimer.

SMALL DIVISION OF HIGH POWER NEW ARMY PLAN

Autos Provide Mobility for 11,385 Men.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—An army made up of small, swift, hard hitting divisions, for years considered by military experts as ideal for American defense, is nearing actuality.

The defense force of the future, popularly known as the streamlined division, is nearing final form. For several years it has been tested and redesigned. This year it is going through final tests in Texas.

After these final maneuvers it will be given official approval of the war department and be the standard of the army. The formation of the new division throughout the army has been delayed by lack of proper armament, but with the expansion bill meeting this deficiency, its growth is expected to be rapid.

Full Strength 11,385.

The new infantry division contains about half the man power of the present division. It will have a total war strength of 11,385 officers and men.

Plans call for complete motorization of all transportation assigned to the fighting units. The entire division, which includes infantry and artillery regiments and quartermaster, engineer and medical battalions, and signal troops, will move in long columns of motor transport.

Now that the mechanized cavalry regiments have been developed the streamlined division will complete the process of putting the army on wheels.

Hitting Power Increased.

Although the new unit is small, making it a simpler matter to rush a self-sustaining fighting unit to any threatened territory—even to Canada or Mexico—there is no sacrifice of its hitting power. In fact the new unit contains a greater volume of fire power than that of the existing cumbersome division of 22,000 officers and men.

The organization of the new division is based on three regiments of infantry. With them are two regiments of artillery. The brigade has been eliminated.

In battle formation the new division would operate as a triangle—that is, either with one infantry regiment thrust forward as a salient and the two others in reserve, or with two regiments in front and one held in reserve as a maneuver unit.

Has More Artillery Support.

Most European divisions are of this type, as opposed to the present American division, which is quadrangular in that it is based on four regiments of infantry operating in a square formation.

Besides concentrating heavier weapons in the hands of fewer men at the front, the new division has a substantial increase in artillery. Where the old division had 5.9 guns for each thousand infantrymen the new organization calls for 7.9 guns.

The infantry regiment is made up of three battalions, each comprising three rifle companies and a heavy weapons company. The heavy weapons company replaces the old division machine gun company. It combines anti-tank guns, .50 caliber machine guns, and 81 millimeter mortars. The rifle companies have semi-automatic rifles, .30 caliber light machine guns, and 60 millimeter mortars.

Providing the artillery support is one regiment of 75 millimeter guns and one equipped with 105 millimeter and 155 millimeter guns.

—says Owen Harding, Veteran Maine Guide
Copyright, 1939, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina
Recent impartial scientific laboratory tests of 16 of the largest-selling brands show—
By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to
5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK
CAMEL
1 CAMELS were found to contain MORE TOBACCO BY WEIGHT than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.
2 CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME OF THE 15 OTHER OF THE LARGEST-SELLING BRANDS! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!
3 In the same tests, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER than the average time for all the other brands.
OWEN HARDING, who knows the woods, streams, and portages of his native Maine country like a book, also proves a good guide on cigarette quality, as he shares his favorite brand with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stanford, from down in New York City. "Camels are a longer-burning cigarette," Owen says, "and that means more smokin' for my money. It means, too, that Camels taste cooler... milder. Puff for puff, Camels put more pleasure in smoking and a big extra measure of it."
Observe the way your cigarette burns. Recent impartial laboratory findings confirm the experience of Camel smokers. Camels are known to burn longer, delivering steadily to smokers more pleasure per puff and more puffs per pack. And all the while you get the mild, ripe goodness of finer, more expensive tobaccos, drawn from the largest treasure of choice tobaccos ever gathered in one place. Camels are the quality cigarette every smoker can afford.

10 GIRL FLYERS THRILL 20,000 AT AERIAL SHOW

Airport Manager's Wife Wins Two Events.

Ten young women who fly for fun thrilled 20,000 aviation enthusiasts yesterday at the eighth annual show of the Chicago Girls' Flying club. The show, at the Palwaukee airport near Wheeling, included races, a bomb dropping contest, and a spot landing event.

Mrs. Frances Anderson of 112 Bellwood avenue, Bellwood, won the 65 mile round trip race to Naperville and the novelty race. Mrs. Anderson, who is the wife of Arnold Anderson, manager of the Elmhurst airport, flew the 65 miles in 48 minutes. Mrs. Alice De Witt of 1635 West 83d street was second in the Naperville race.

Miss Ring Wins Pylon Race.

The 25 mile pylon race was won by Miss Dorothy Ring of 1252 Leland avenue. Miss Helen Budwash of 15737 Marshfield avenue, Harvey, was second.

Miss Jerry Truesdell of 5402 Woodlawn avenue won the bomb dropping contest, in which paper bags filled with flour were dropped at a target marked on the field.

The spot landing event, in which the flyers attempted to land their planes with the wheels on a line drawn on the field, was won by Miss Janet Mayhercy of 108 3d street, Wilmette. Miss Truesdell was second in this contest.

Spectators seemed to get the greatest entertainment from the novelty race. In this contest, all the planes took off from a starting line. The flyers circled the field, then landed in their original positions, jumped out, ran 100 yards for a hamburger and a bottle of pop, gobbled the lunch, ran back, and climbed into their planes again.

Two of the flyers were to have given parachute leap exhibitions, but threatening weather caused this part of the program to be canceled.

ONE BONAPARTE GETS EVEN WITH AUTHOR LUDWIG

AJACCIO, Corsica, Aug. 20 (AP).—Emil Ludwig took a bang on the head today from a statue of Jerome Bonaparte—but figured it just squared accounts between him and the brother of the great Napoleon. Jerome, who was king of Westphalia and who had been dead for eighty years, was the subject of some disparaging remarks by Ludwig in his "Life of Napoleon."

While Ludwig was looking over historic relics in the Napoleonic museum at Ajaccio city hall, the bronze statue of the emperor's brother fell from its niche and struck the writer on the head. While Ludwig's injuries were being treated a municipal councilor rushed up to apologize. "Don't apologize to me," Ludwig replied. "I had too many things to say about Jerome of Westphalia in my book. He has his vengeance now. We are quits!"

CUBAN REVENUES FALL; MONTHLY DEFICIT MOUNTS

Seek Loan as Economy Measures Flop.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 20.—With a steadily increasing deficit, now over $2,000,000 monthly in expected revenues, and the failure of half a dozen plans for checking the debacle, Cuba today sees itself on the verge of serious economic and financial difficulties.

Customs receipts, representing 75 per cent of the total government income, reveal a steady decline from January to July 31 of 52.3 per cent. With a budget of $84,253,126 for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, the government today disclosed a deficit of $12,000,000 for the first six months of this year.

In January 8,000 government employés were dismissed. The salaries of 16,000 remaining on the pay rolls were cut from 12 to 25 per cent, but the plan failed to make ends meet.

Terms of Loan Rejected.

The government appealed to the American Export-Import bank for a $50,000,000 loan. The bank's president came here, and after surveying development possibilities and economic capacity to repay the loan, agreed under two conditions: First, that the money be invested only in public works of indisputable and practical utility under the bank's supervision and to be paid for only when finished and accepted; second, Cuba to recognize as valid and to start payments on the defaulted $10,000,000 public works loan to the deposed government of Gerardo Machado.

President Frederico Laredo Bru and Col. Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's "strong man," rejected the conditions.

President Bru and Batista in March had congress legalize gambling. The government thought the thousands of dollars gambled monthly in private lottery rackets would go into the government's vaults, so the government became the banker. The gambling law provides that 50 per cent of the profits go to the army. This brought nation-wide criticism and a boycott. As a result gambling has failed to produce one-third of the $12,325,000 it was estimated would come in.

New Capital Frozen.

Batista's new moratorium law, already sanctioned by the senate, reduces mortgage loans to one-half of their face value, postpones maturity dates for fifty years, and slashes all interest to a maximum of 2 per cent annually, with payments to start five years from the day the legislation becomes effective. It has caused virtually complete stagnation of credit. It also has caused the shipment abroad of considerable capital and an alarming depreciation of Cuban silver currency.

The peso was quoted today at 83 cents on the dollar, representing a heavy loss to importers who must purchase American dollars to meet foreign obligations.

Prices of food—especially condensed milk, jam, bacon, eggs, butter, and lard—and medicines show a 12 to 25 per cent increase since May.

TREE LIMB FALLS ON TOP DECK OF BUS; KILLS RIDER

New York, Aug. 20 (AP).—A man was killed and two women were injured late today when a heavy branch fell from a tree upon them as they rode in a double-deck 5th avenue bus alongside Central park between 93d and 94th streets. The victim, identified as Frank Goesch, 47 years old, of New York, died while he and the women were being taken to a hospital.

The limb, 20 feet long and 8 inches through and weighing about 175 pounds, crashed on the topless upper desk from the tree, which stood behind a wall in the park.

Goesch was struck on top of the head. His woman companion, Marie Denton of Belleville, N. J., was seriously hurt. Mary Powell, 19, of Union City, N. J., was bruised.

NEW YORK'S MILK.

The supply of fresh milk in New York was cut something like 40 per cent on Saturday as a result of a strike of dairy farmers, supported by the C. I. O. Under New Deal laws, both federal and state, the dairy companies have been ordered to pay the farmers $2.25 a hundred pounds as the base price for their milk. The farmers are striking for an additional 10 cents a hundred. They hope to get it by depriving the people of New York, including the children, the sick, and the aged, of their nourishment.

This strike would not have lasted for five minutes if Mr. Roosevelt's government, Mr. Lehman's government, and Mr. La Guardia's government had shown any willingness to enforce the laws they are sworn to enforce. There is plenty of milk in the country and plenty of transportation facilities to move it into New York. In fact, there is an immense surplus of milk of better quality than New York is accustomed to drinking and it is available at a price which the New York market has been paying.

If New York doesn't get all the milk it needs it will be because the federal government will support the strike by withholding protection from interstate shipments; because Gov. Lehman will refuse to maintain free movement on the highways of his state; and because Mayor La Guardia will fail to suppress organized violence in his city. The New Dealers all favor expanding the scope of government, but they are singularly reluctant to use the powers of government to maintain peace and order.

If these officials really had the interests of the farmers at heart they would do all in their power to discourage the strike because in the long run it can only do the farmers an injury. If fresh milk is not available the customers will turn to powdered and condensed milk, which is just as nutritious and usually cheaper because it is made from surplus production, bought by the processing plants at a heavy discount. Once the housewives get out of the habit of buying fresh milk and the habit of buying substitutes is established the farmers will have lost profitable customers who may never be regained.

Some citizens may wonder what the C. I. O. is doing in this controversy. They will not find the answer in the official statements but rather in a survey of the activities and policies of the C. I. O. The aim of that organization is to maneuver itself into a position where it can strangle the economic life of the country and thus impose its rule upon the nation.

The C. I. O. is seeking to control key industries for a domestic blitzkrieg. The C. I. O. is now strongly intrenched in steel and motors, coal, and ocean shipping. It is reaching out for the meat industry and the canning plants and is taking steps to dominate the dairy industry as well. In some localities, particularly in the automobile towns of Michigan, it has sought control over the power companies. There is no doubt that communist elements are active in the C. I. O. in the formulation of policy and no doubt that the general strike is a communist tactic. If the C. I. O. is successful in invading the dairy industry another weapon will have been forged which some day may be used to starve the country into submission.

THE PLATTSBURG DOCTRINE.

The 1st army maneuvers in the Plattsburg region are intended to simulate the situation which would arise if this country were suddenly faced with the necessity of resisting a hostile army. Maj. Gen. Hugh Drum, who is commanding, has wisely refused to assume that the force at his disposal contains the men, the organization, or the equipment which it is supposed to have. Instead of a strength of 321,000 men, as provided in the army tables, he has only 75,000. He has only 300 guns of 75 millimeters instead of 480 and the shortage of 155s is far greater. The number of machine guns, anti-aircraft guns, trucks, and automatic rifles is also far below standard. Gen. Drum is proceeding on the theory that if the emergency arose he would have to meet it with actual, not theoretical, equipment. To make any other assumption would be an exercise in self-deception.

In his address of welcome the general made a number of observations which deserve attention. He recognizes that a motorized army is capable of rapid movement and he believes that consideration must be given to this fact; but he has not forgotten that movement, however rapid, is only preliminary to battle and that an army which doesn't know how to fight is not likely to win. Accordingly, the primary concern of the Plattsburg exercise is to instruct officers and men in battle technique.

Here again, the general has taken a sound position. "The increased fire power and range of modern aviation and field artillery," he says, "coupled with the rapid movements of mechanized forces will demand battle operations in greater depth and width than ever before." He speaks of an area of conflict equivalent at least to the range of light artillery. Decision, he believes, will seldom be gained until the rear area of light guns is penetrated. That is to say, an attack which does not result in the capture or forced retreat of the field artillery is not likely to accomplish much. The experience of the last war reinforces this judgment; again and again one army or the other would advance for a few hundred yards or even for distances of a mile or two without achieving any important result though the cost of these advances in human life and material was often extremely high. To penetrate the enemy lines to the depth of his artillery produces a different result. It makes it increasingly difficult for the enemy to organize a new position and accordingly greatly reduces the theoretical advantage possessed by the defense.

To penetrate the enemy lines to such a depth calls for a coördination of effort which, it is to be hoped, the Plattsburg maneuvers will teach.

WAR DICTATORSHIP.

The fallacy that a military autocracy is essential to the conduct of a war has gained so much ground in the United States that the general expectation is that one will be slapped down on the country, when and if. And there is more war nonsense in Washington today than there has been since 1916 and '17.

Some people think a dictatorial conscription of everybody and everything is the way to fight a war; others that it is the way to prevent one; still others that it will be punishment for the intriguers who sought the conflict. France under the Socialist Blum tried to take the profit out of production and nearly destroyed the air force.

Germany of 1914 may have proved that a military autocracy can start a war with brilliant successes. Germany of 1918 revealed how even in a country accustomed to discipline and submission the reverses end in disintegration. But we do not need to go abroad for examples. The confederate states of America provided one here.

Although the confederacy was supposed to represent the theory of state rights against centralization, its government was hardly distinguishable from a military dictatorship. Jefferson Davis, the head of it, was a professional soldier who had been secretary of war. Whether or not it was all his doing, the selection of generals was extraordinarily competent, including Lee, Longstreet, Beauregard, Early, the two Hills, Bragg, Ewell. The first advantages were with the military government. Its weaknesses developed later.

It was naturally autocratic because the confederate states were addicted to the theory of superior and inferior people. The inferior people were conscripted for cannon fodder. Influential people were able to procure exemption. Volunteering was a failure in less than a year and conscription was imposed in 1862. The southern conscript knew the struggle as a "rich man's war and a poor man's fight." Supplies were conscripted as well as men, but the military dictatorship was so incompetent in handling them that the armies were ill supplied when warehouses were bulging. When a southern city was taken the burning stores had everything the soldiers lacked.

As a result of the bungling of the military autocracy the southern population lost its morale. Desertions were wholesale and states such as North Carolina and Georgia were on the point of revolt. On the other hand, the north remained democratic. It suffered some from consequent follies and from political opposition, but it fought the war. Generals were made by congressional favor. Lincoln knew little of war and his original appointments were all bad. Some of the successors were equally bad. But private enterprise supplied the needs of Union soldiers. The resources of the north were given to the armies.

The confederate government, as distinguished from the cause, became offensive to a majority of the southern people. The northern government, in spite of politicians who said the war was a failure, and of treasonable organizations, never lost popular support.

UNCLE SAM'S SALOONS.

Perhaps the Reconstruction Finance corporation didn't expect to have a hotel on its hands when it lent money to the Congress here in Chicago; but whatever the expectation may have been, the fact is that today the taxpayers are in the hotel business. They own the Congress, including its wine cellars, its night clubs, its ample and resplendent bars, and Peacock alley, not to mention the expansive traditions thereunto appertaining.

Mr. Joe Parrish tells us that in the Tennessee hills the local boys offer a drink to the stranger by employing the formula, "Do you tolerate?" Mr. Parrish says the word "tolerate" is used not in the doctor's sense; no question of gastric reaction is raised. The inquiry has to do solely with moral sentiments. Freely translated, the question means, "Are you one of those who have scruples against alcoholic indulgence?"

So far as the taxpayers of the United States are concerned, that question is now superfluous. All of us are now in the liquor business. There are a lot of people in this country who have religious scruples against alcohol and a lot more who have a low opinion of those who engage in the sale of it, but all of us, including Methodist bishops, are now partners in the Congress hotel's saloons and night clubs.

When the government goes into business every citizen becomes a stockholder. If he doesn't like the business he's in it's just too bad.

Editorial of the Day

NEW ENGLAND.

[Providence (R. I.) Bulletin.]

Sharon, Conn., celebrated its 200th anniversary recently with a well justified show of pride in her past. The governor of the state was there. He spoke of the old town's beauty and traditions and of the important part which New England as a whole has played in the development of American democracy.

One comes back to New England with renewed appreciation of the virtues which Gov. Baldwin spoke of. It is different from the rest of the country. Or, not all of the country. We wouldn't be guilty of such snobbishness. But most of it.

The south is friendly—the farther south the friendlier. The west is friendly, too. But one becomes aware of a deep seated indifference, something self-sufficient to the point of lawlessness underneath the surface of these friendly appearances. It is an indifference, a planlessness which is reflected in the thousands of ugly dwellings scattered across the hills and in the valleys. They reflect, all too often, a casual, hand-to-mouth existence.

One comes back to New England, her stone fences, laboriously worked fields, meandering but well kept roadways, white houses, and village greens with a growing sense of purpose, of design, of self-conscious pride and essential decency. It is the decency, respectful of others' rights though often a little suspicious of them, upon which self-government at its best must rest.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE GREAT STONE URNS.

In Wilder park, Elmhurst, Ill., there are two large stone urns of fluted and bulbous shape, and in Rogers Park, in a vacant, wooded area that was once the Rogers estate [Clark street] there is another of similar pattern, shattered and overthrown. You can see a fourth in the yard of the King school at Harrison street and Western avenue, a fifth in Washington park, and a sixth in front of a home on Campbell avenue near Harrison street.

Whence come these giant, antique urns? Has Chicago, too, its Roman ruins, its scattered symbols of a vanished civilization?

Mrs. Laura Kendall Thomas of Elmhurst has the answer, for these urns are a hobby of hers. She writes:

"In 1868 Chicago built east and west wings on its courthouse. These new buildings had irregular cornices, and at each corner was placed one of these stone urns. There must have been eighteen on each wing. After the fire of 1871, which destroyed the courthouse, these urns were carried away for use as garden ornaments. I can account for six, but where are the many others?"

SUMMER CRUISE GIRL.

Well, I'm off to Puerto Rico
With a heigh-de, heigh-de, ho!
Sailing off to foreign ports
Where the trade winds blow.

We'll slip into the harbor when
The moon is hanging high
And then heave up the anchor
Before the sails are dry.

We'll stop at old St. Thomas,
One of the Virgin Isles,
To stay awhile and play awhile
And bask in tropic wiles.

Off again to Barbados
Where the windmills stand,
Waving arms across the sky
As water kisses sand.

And then to satisfy my soul,
I'll take a little peek
At Mont Pélée and Fort de France
Within French Martinique.

To top it all I'll lie upon
Bermuda's sunny shore,
And when I've tired of tropic life
I'll hit the deck once more.

Then when I reach New York I'll keep
My feet upon the ground,
And tell myself I've had enough—

A Holiday Not to Be Treated Lightly.

Speaking of American traditions, and the need to cherish them:

When Baron Schlippenbach of blessed memory was imperial Russian consul at Chicago and lived in the Charlevoix apartments, opposite the Virginia hotel, his next door neighbor invited him for Thanksgiving dinner. He was so much impressed with the dignity of the occasion that early the next morning Marcia, his Russian cook, appeared, out of breath, at the neighbor's door saying:

"O, madame, will you please tell me about those turkey and cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie? Baron told me that all over this land every American family is eating those for the first time of the season in honor of Thanksgiving day. He says it is an American tradition, very important and we must do that, too." Caroline McIlvaine.

THE OLD MOULTON HOUSE.

It stands untenanted and rankly overgrown
With vines while weeds usurp the stepping stone;
The door sags inward from the rotting sill
And creatures of the night slip in at will;
Its dark shape looms against a cloud wracked sky
The traveler, benighted in this grassy lane,
Glimpses the shape and hastens on again.
A loosened shutter creaks with dismal sound
And a pale wraith of dampness rises from the ground;
There is a watcher where the eyeless windows gleam
When from a cloud the moon sheds one clear beam.
Shunned and alone, it waits no more for host or guest

S'Amuser.

(Author's note: It was on the road we children used to trudge to school, a road dusty and grass grown, now a seething highway to Joliet.)

Hotels in Chicago Fifty Years Ago.

Collins, proprietor]; Van Ness House, 222-226 South Clark; Grace, Clark and Jackson; Brown's, State and Van Buren; Cortland, 16-22 Adams; Kuhn's, 165-169 Clark; Waverly, Clark and Lake; Eutaw, 355 South State; Midland, 133-135 East Adams; Bennett House, 71-77 East Monroe street; and National, 228-230 South Clark.

Aunt Minnie has returned home from her first trip to New York. She told us that there was no place in her hotel room to hang her clothes, for the little sign on the knob of the closet stated: "Do Not Disturb." Ferdinand of Old Peru.

A German trafic corridor across the Polish corridor into Danzig and East Prussia struck us as a reasonable proposal. If it is unreasonable enough to cause a new world war, we are out of step with the human race. CHARLES COLLINS.

SYMPTOMS: TRIVIAL OR IMPORTANT—WHICH?

PHYSICIANS desire to be helpful. In order that they may be of the greatest possible service they must familiarize themselves with the physical history of each patient. What many interpret as a useless rigmarole—a battery of interrogations—is really necessary as no minute phase of a previous illness can be overlooked if the findings of the doctor are to be worthwhile.

About all the caller can do in describing his symptoms is to tell how he feels. But many are unable to relate their "miseries" with even fair accuracy. Important items may be minimized or not mentioned at all. On the other hand, incidental manifestations may be dwelt upon unduly. It is essential that the whole story be given—with nothing left out. The medical men can then catalog every episode, assessing each at its proper value.

But sometimes disease is so disguised that even though every complaint is detailed the basic cause may remain masked. The volume of smoke may be so dense that it is hard to locate the fire. For example: with many a victim, pulmonary tuberculosis has been allowed to pass unrecognized because of nervousness, befogged with a multitude of symptoms. Because the patient is below par, pains arise here and there. So many functions appear to be out of gear that the conclusion may be drawn that the person is a neurotic without a tangible foundation for any of the trouble. If fatigue is a prominent factor—even in the absense of a cough or an afternoon rise in temperature—an X-ray film of the chest is always in order before the diagnosis of nerve exhaustion is suggested. Many an instance of mild hoarseness, persisting for months, or an occasional twinge of pleurisy, has been disregarded in the presence of an infection with the tubercle bacillus.

Not long ago my attention was called to a 46 year old woman who was thought to be suffering from heart disease because of shortness of breath and swelling of the ankles. She noted that her "ticker" was more rapid than usual. A consultant who saw her and who studied the electrocardiograph decided that the organ was excessively irritable. He advised the use of a powerful remedy—quinidine. In the course of the examination, however, a definite tremor was observed when she was asked to extend the arms and spread the fingers wide apart. This pointed to some thyroid dysfunction and—sure enough—the metabolic test read "plus 40." Under iodine her cardiac difficulty vanished. Later, a portion of the gland was removed and she made an uneventful recovery. Her pulse is now around 88 and she is beginning to feel better than she has for several years.

A woman of 52 had obtained what was thought to be a thorough inventory from two reputable physicians. Despite the verdict that "nothing is wrong" she faced a gloomy future because she insisted that she felt miserable, but could not tell where, how, or why. In appearance she seemed a dozen years older than her actual age. A metabolic reading of 45 per cent above normal pointed directly to the structure at fault—the thyroid. Again, in her case surgery came to the rescue with complete rehabilitation. We can look upon disturbances of the thyroid as responsible for many puzzling symptoms.

Disseminated sclerosis may prove an enigma unless great care is exercised. This is a disease of the young and occurs with greater frequency in women. Those who consult a doctor because at times they see double or can't see at all, whose legs "go weak" on them, who complain of giddiness and emotional instability, are entitled to the benefit of a critical study of the nervous system. The same thing applies to many other rather obscure afflictions.

Most of us recognize examples of abnormal behavior only if we are familiar with the indications. Pain, of course, is the most common urge, obliging us to seek alleviation. Without dwelling upon one's own sensations—good or bad—without becoming introspective in the slightest degree, we may learn to separate the significant from the meaningless.

IT WON'T HURT YOU.

A. M. writes: I have heard there is radium in a wrist watch. If this is so, is it harmful to sleep with the watch on the arm?

REPLY.

Radium is used only in watches equipped with luminous hands and numerals. The amount is so small that no harm can result.

NO.

Mrs. R. G. writes: Is it harmful to give a baby cod liver oil during the summer months?

REPLY.

No. Because sunlight is a cheap and excellent producer of vitamin D, it may not be necessary to feed as much during the warm months.

THREE TO FIVE DAYS.

B. E. writes: How long, as a rule, does laryngitis last?

REPLY.

Acute laryngitis—from three to five days; the chronic type may persist for months.

CANNED ORANGE JUICE.

R. O. writes: Has canned orange juice the same vitamin content as fresh?

REPLY.

PURCHASE OF ESTATE PROPERTY.

Chicago, Aug. 19 [Legal Friend of the People].—In a case where no will was left and one of the heirs was appointed by the court to serve as administratrix of the estate, which consists of three parcels of real estate: Now the administratrix wishes to purchase one of the parcels of real estate. Who fixes the price? J. B. N.

It is the general rule that an executor or administrator is not permitted to purchase at his own sale [24 C. J. 633]. There are exceptions, but in seeking to come under them, the situation is delicate enough so that we advise the employment of an attorney. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WHAT ABOUT IT, ALDERMEN?

Chicago, Aug. 18.—The city council is playing Santa Claus with the taxpayers' money. How little public officials care how they spend it is shown by the action of the council allowing the housing administration to pay $30,000 instead of $494,000 in annual taxes. How can apartment building owners survive with that kind of competition?

Will some alderman give me some good reason for their conduct in accepting $30,000 for $494,000? Do the aldermen know who is paying them their salaries?

If the government cannot do business by fair competition, then let the government stay out of business. JOSEPH A. WEBER.

CALLS CRITICISM DESTRUCTIVE.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Some people don't realize when they're well off. Judging by the editorial policy of THE TRIBUNE and by the chronic moaners that contribute to it, it seems that our President is responsible for all evils. You could give them the world on a silver platter and they would shout to high heaven that they were robbed. What they need is a trip to the other side for a time with Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin and they would soon appreciate a man who is giving his best for his and our country.

If their dislike of the man is for political reasons they should respect the office he holds and try to coöperate to keep our country at the top where it belongs and forget those destructive criticisms that smack of anarchy. E. S. D.

SOME BURYING ACORNS.

Oconomowoc, Wis., Aug. 16.—Regarding X Y Z's letter in THE TRIBUNE today I would like to say that I, too, have chipmunks and squirrels disporting themselves in the yard eating and burying acorns.

The spring and early summer are lean days for chipmunks, and green acorns must form part of their diet, as well as buried acorns from the summer before. But not all acorns buried in days of plenty are later found and eaten, as young oaks growing up here and there testify.

Also black walnut saplings seem to come from the thriftiness of our furred friends. Can the New Dealers boast of similar good deeds? J. O.

WILL IT BE LEWIS VS. GREEN?

Wichita, Kas., Aug. 16.—That the primary contest in Kentucky was between two rival labor organizations, according to press reports, reveals a new and a dangerous element in national politics. Possibly the two major political parties will in 1940 be headed by John L. Lewis and William Green, respectively. History will record as a most unfortunate incident the huge donation by Mr. Lewis' labor union to the New Deal campaign fund and the loan of almost an equal amount to that party. That marked the beginning of class antagonism in American politics. HENRY WARE ALLEN.

BROADCASTS: NOT IMPARTIAL.

Kiel, Wis., Aug. 17.—Two years ago I arrived in Wisconsin and became interested in the Chicago baseball broadcasts, which I have followed ever since. I naturally supposed the broadcasts would be impartial, but soon discovered that they were playing the Chicago teams to win at all times, lavish in their praise of the Chicago players and chary of it to the others. Doubtless this meets with the approval of the Chicago public, but might not be so popular if tried in other places. This includes W-G-N. RULED OUT.

HE IS WATCHING THE TRIBUNE.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—After reading Monday's editorial on our much too venerated mayor it may be supposed that "at long last THE TRIBUNE has seen the light" [with apologies to the coiners of the word combinations].

It now remains to be seen how much sincerity may be placed in the editorial policies of THE TRIBUNE as outlined in its platform, say "Cut taxes in half," and whether it will have the courage of its convictions and "part company with" Mayor Kelly and the Democratic machine as is suggested by the editorial.

Now it may be said that some of us Republicans have had the strange feeling of being "sold down the river" when THE TRIBUNE so unconditionally endorsed Mayor Kelly. As long as the editor's ire has been aroused it might help to open his eyes if he was presented with copies of THE TRIBUNE published at the time when Chief Engineer Kelly of the south park board was exerting his influence in the political field; how he later opposed Mayor Cermak's efforts to consolidate the three park boards, but no sooner was he in the mayor's chair when he did the very thing; probably from political expediency he reasoned the chairmanship of the south park board in the hands of another than himself would become too powerful.

In national politics THE TRIBUNE was the first to detect the consequences of the Roosevelt policies, but it failed dismally in local politics. A REPUBLICAN.

P. S.: May I say that I have no personal grudge against Mayor Kelly, nor is the above intended to reflect upon his personal character in any way.

REFERRED TO WPA CHIEF.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Can you clear me up regarding the rule to lay off all who have been employed by the WPA for 18 months?

Can you tell if the rule is to cover all employés in the future who have been working 18 months?

Some say it will continue to drop all for 30 days who have been on the rolls 18 months, and that they will have to make new applications to get back. Others claim it is only a layoff for 30 days and that they will be called back to work at the end of that time. Do you know which is correct?

I will appreciate your reply. W. P. A.

POLLENLESS RAGWEED NO GOOD.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 17.—It's been a long time since I have read anything as ridiculous as the statement on ragweed made by "A Sufferer."

In the first place, pollen is necessary for the reproduction of ragweed, and the pollenless ragweed would die after the first planting. Then if you did sow this pollenless ragweed it would not exterminate the existing species and there would be twice as much to contend with. GEORGE ROHDE.

BUS BOY OUT OF SORTS.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—I make this appeal to the many thoughtless people in every walk of life; those who "eat out" and display their bad manners to those employed in restaurants and hotels.

Because of existing conditions I was compelled to work as a "bus boy" in an upper Michigan avenue hotel. Although it is not entirely occupied by the elite, only those with a good sized bank book could afford to live or dine there. Not only must we cater to their eccentricities, but we take their insults and tolerate their bad habits. They regard "us" as a machine [something you just motion to], with no thought of saying "please" or "thank you."

My advice is: Don't be a snob. After all, we who serve you are human, also. BUS BOY.

P. T. BARNUM A DEY.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—I note in Herma Clark's feature in last Sunday's TRIBUNE a statement that P. T. Barnum once "kept a saloon in New York."

That statement is unqualifiedly wrong. He was throughout his life a militant temperance advocate and a practitioner of his belief.

Mr. Barnum was highly respected in his home town, Bridgeport, Conn., and was at one time its mayor. He made Tom Thumb a rich man.

Mr. Barnum was a friend of my father's. I saw him frequently and knew him as well as would a boy then in his teens. G. H. C.

OLD MEN IN Y. M. C. A.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Could THE TRIBUNE tell me why the Y. M. C. A. accepts men of 55 to 65 to live in its buildings [some moderately wealthy at that] when at times they turn away the young man, claiming they have no vacancies? This organization is not living up to its name.

The above applies to the Lawson Y. M. C. A. especially—North Dearborn and Chicago avenue—which does not pay taxes to the city of Chicago, as it should. FREDERICK J. CHARLES.

A WORD ON STRADDLEBUGS.

Oak Park, Ill., Aug. 16.—So a man who forgets politics and votes his honest convictions is a "straddlebug." So says Citizen Roosevelt.

Well, now, let me tell you what the next President is not going to be. He will not be an insurable egotist who will leave this country loaded with debt that our children never can pay off. Yours for loyalty to good political sense. SIXTY YEARS A VOTER.

JUST TRIFLES.

Delphi, Ind., Aug. 16.—I can see no objections to the use of such spellings as "tho," "thoro," and "thru," nor, on the other hand, can I see why any one usefully employed would waste time on such trifles. THE TRIBUNE must be heavily overstaffed. RUDOLF SCHURTZ.

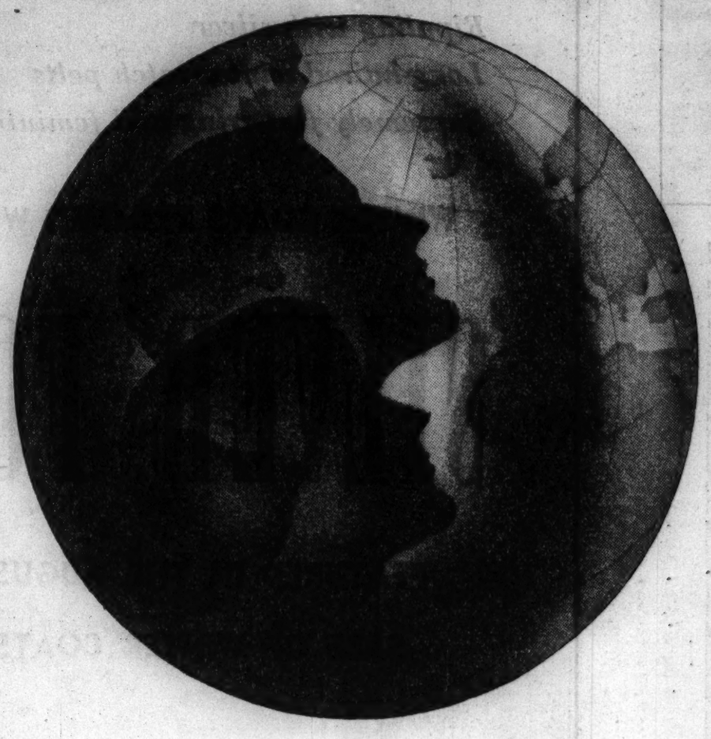
An Event of National Importance to Every American Citizen



The Ninth Annual Herald Tribune Forum

America's Conference of Leaders

Presenting Divergent Views on Current Problems

October 24, 25, 26—in New York

This announcement is in answer to requests from everywhere for the 1939 Herald Tribune Forum dates. They are Tuesday, October 24, Wednesday, October 25, Thursday, October 26 – at the Waldorf-Astoria.

This Forum on Current Problems, organized by a newspaper, addressed by leaders, attended by leaders, and overheard by a national public, is like no other event in this country. It is a program for America, and its influence is as far-flung as the delegates who attend it and the combined weight of the nation's press and radio reporting it.

To any thinking citizen it is of immediate interest to see – through the informed minds of today – the outlines of tomorrow. Whatever tomorrow's world may hold, America's weight in it will be greater . . . her men and women of arts and letters, science and philosophy, education and government, labor and economics . . . all her leaders will, in a measure, be world leaders.

Like the country's Congress, the Forum's audience represents all America geographically, all its peoples and opinions. Like the Congress, too, its immediate audience is delegated to attend, note, and report to their organizations at home.

No one hall could hold the Forum's potential audience. Attendance is necessarily by invitation. But for the hundreds of thousands who each year follow its proceedings closely, the Herald Tribune will report them in entirety in its Sunday, October 29 edition, the nation's press will cover many of the addresses, and a national radio audience will over-hear many of the discussions.

This will be the Ninth Herald Tribune Forum on Current Problems – grown from a small deliberative group at the start of this decade to a national audience today. This will be a meeting of leaders of thought and leaders of action with leaders of community life – to think forward to the America of tomorrow.

Friday, October 27, will be Herald Tribune Forum Day at the New York World's Fair—for the pleasure of Forum delegates coming from all parts of the country.

Early Rising Riders Limber Up for Opening of the Hunt Season

BY JUDITH CASS.

THREE times a week, and before breakfast at that, those members of the Mill Creek and Longmeadow hounds who are in town ride forth for an early gallop. The Mill Creek is hunting informally; the Longmeadow is exercising the hounds.

The Mill Creek's clubhouse in Millburn will be opened Wednesday or Thursday to serve breakfast to the early riders, who meet at 5:45 o'clock. The first luncheon party probably will not be given until Labor day, which tentatively has been set as the date of the first formal hunt.

Longmeadow Will Have New Stables and Kennels.

The Longmeadow's first informal early morning hunt will be held on Sept. 9, a Saturday. The hunt will have new stables and kennels this year. They are going up on Lee road in Northbrook, about five miles north of the present stables, in more open country. The hunt has been leasing its present kennels and stables. The new ones will be the property of a syndicate of members. The stables will have about the same number of stalls as the present one, but the kennels will be larger as the number of hounds will be increased.

S. Prentice Porter is MFH of the Mill Creek. James Simpson Jr. is the honorary whipper-in; Prince Michael Cantacuzene is the secretary, and Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr. is chairman of the house committee. Mrs. John Andrews King, who has looked after the clubhouse for so many years, will assist Mrs. Morse. Austin H. Niblack resigned as joint master last spring.

Denison B. Hull was elected joint master with Clark J. Lawrence of the Longmeadow this spring. Ernest S. Ballard is the secretary; Freeman Wood and Ross J. Beatty Jr. are the honorary whippers-in. The first formal hunt of the Longmeadow will be held about Sept. 30, by which time the new buildings will be ready.

Horse Show Holds Up Wayne Hunt's Meet.

Because members of the Dunham Woods Riding club are busy with plans for the club's annual horse show, to be held Sept. 10, the Wayne hunt will not meet formally until Sept. 17. Charles R. Lindsay III. is MFH, Arthur Farwell is treasurer and an honorary whipper-in, and Raymond O. Mitchell is secretary. Mrs. Montgomery Orr is the other honorary whipper-in.

Mrs. Frank Granger Logan is giving a musical this afternoon at her Lake Shore drive home for Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, who came to Chicago from her home in California to be guest at the Chicagoland Music Festival luncheon last Friday and at the festival itself on Saturday night. John Carter, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company, who sang at the festival, will be among the guests at the reception.

Miss Edith Mason, Miss Sonia Sharnova, Mrs. Walter Dill Scott, Mrs. Jason F. Whitney, and Miss Vivian della Chiesa will pour.

Logan Munroe to Wed in East On Sept. 16.

Mrs. Logan, her son, Stuart Logan, and his daughters, Mrs. Logan Terbell and Miss Loraine Logan, will go east next month for the marriage on Sept. 16 of Mrs. Logan's grandson, Logan Munroe, and Miss Jean Martin. The wedding will take place in St. John's church in Lattingtown, near Glen Cove, N. Y., where the bride and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Martin of New York, live in the summers. A reception will follow at the Martin home.

Mr. Munroe's sisters, Mrs. Lawrence Elliman Jr [Rhea Munroe], and Mrs. Herbert Lloyd [Josephine Munroe] will be the bridesmaids, and Miss Nancy Martin, a debutante of the coming season, will be her sister's maid of honor.

The Chicago Logans will visit the bridegroom's father, Charles A. Munroe, at his home in Greenwich during the wedding festivities. Mr. Munroe, whose late wife was Miss Rhea Logan of Chicago, is returning from his villa at Cannes, France, for the ceremony. His son will take his bride to Honolulu on their wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Logan, who live in Great Barrington, Mass., will attend the wedding and perhaps Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Logan will be there also. At present she is visiting her brother in California and Mr. Logan is in Porto Rico.

Mrs. Marcus Daly's Son Is Bridegroom.

Of interest to those Chicagoans who met Mrs. Marcus Daly II. of New York when she visited the former Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick here or in Palm Beach, is the announcement of the marriage on Aug. 15 of Miss Janet Elizabeth MacKellar and Marcus Daly III. in Montecito. The wedding took place in All Saints-by-the-Sea church and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Alexander MacKellar of Santa Barbara.

The bridegroom's mother did not return from Austria, where she is spending the summer, for the wedding, but his grandmother, Mrs. Marcus Daly Sr. of New York, was there. Mr. Daly and his bride have gone to Honolulu on their wedding trip. Upon their return the youthful bride and bridegroom will enter the University of Montana. He was graduated last June from St. Paul's school at Concord, N. H. The romance started while he was at his family's ranch in the Bitter Root valley in Montana and she was visiting at the Hamilton Thacher ranch near by.

College Shops Are Preparing for New Co-Eds' Fashion Rush

The annual college roundup of important wardrobes, good promising apparel for a correct first impression, is about to start. International crises may hold the attention of thousands, but nothing supersedes the interest and enthusiasm of the new student in search of telling college fashions.

This annual rush to the college shops grows each season. Perfected to the last detail, future co-ed and parents are welcomed by counselors or representatives from virtually every school in the country. Such important advice as what to wear from the moment you board the train, what to choose for climate, what to avoid as just a passing fancy or what to buy for dormitory wear, can be settled in record time.

College wardrobes are pretty well decided before you arrive. Co-educational institutions, for instance, provide a better background for more feminine apparel, especially for date dresses, more high heeled foot gear and more daytime clothes. Girl colleges simplify the buying problems considerably, for the selections are then sweaters and more sweaters, skirts and low heeled walking brogues.

Some of the "musts"—a slicker, one of those new combinations of gabardine and flexible wool, waterproof natural tone gabardine on one side, bright cheerful wool plaid on the other, a reversible combination equal to any weather. Good boxy models, with deep pockets, snug collars and wrist straps make the best finds.

As many sweaters as can be wangled in classic cardigans and pullovers. As many colors as you can pack, with henna, forest green and beige as good background selections teamed with turquoise, gold and delicate pastels of powder blue, pink and yellow.

Popular skirts are the flared models, the flare achieved with gores, or the four sectioned circular skirts with a few umbrella tucked skirts still good favorites.

Masculine cut and fitted jackets are tops for these skirts, many of them cut sufficiently high in the neckline to wear as the finishing top for a suit dress effect.

High powered tweeds in strikingly colored checks, plaids and over plaids are the smartest tops you will select. These are belted or half belted models, nipped in at the waistline numbers with plenty of tailored details including flapped pockets on hip or chest. These make classic tops for skirts.

Thin wool daytime dresses have won a new and significant popularity. Especially designed for co-ed wardrobes, these slim, flattering thin woolens have a definitly young look. Crisp white collars and cuffs accent this little girl charm. Colors include green, copper, tobacco brown, dubonnet and cornflower blue. Some of them are ideal with contrasting jackets leading a double existence—as a daytime dress under long topcoats, or as an under dress with a short plaid or tweed jacket.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Although nobody would venture to call it a fresh theme, the movies are still toiling nobly to clinch in our minds the belief that crime doesn't pay. With the excellent assistance of George Raft and Claire Trevor, "I Stole a Million" pleads its timeworn point effectively.

Without placing Mr. Raft in too ignoble a light, the picture offers him ample opportunities for gunplay and lawbreaking and surrounds him with many thrilling pursuits and hairbreadth escapes. He is a good egg at heart—make no mistake of that. But when he is caught by the police as he is committing a first—and, so far as I could see, wholly unnecessary—crime of stealing back some of his own money, he begins to take a dislike toward the law.

This dislike stays with him through most of the picture and toward the end it grows like a snowball that pursues him relentlessly. Along in the middle there is an idyllic episode, however, in which he goes straight, with the aid of Miss Trevor. Within a year he has saved $120.18 and seen Miss Trevor, now his wife, sent to a maternity ward. Just then, unfortunately, his past catches up with him, as cinema pasts have such a persistent habit of doing. From this point forward he detests the law with renewed force and plunges into a flamboyant career of malefaction.

Mr. Raft gives a superb performance. He creates real sympathy for the hunted Joe Lourik without playing upon our sentimentality. While he is on the screen [and that is nearly all the time] it is easy to believe in the story and in Joe's physchology.

Miss Trevor's pert baby face belies the intelligence of her work. She is one motion picture actress who can read her lines without making one suspect that she was once flunked out of an elocution school. She is usually quite decorative, too, and always completely winning.

For a few brief moments Henry Armetta is to be seen and heard pouring out his voluble Italian and gesticulating wildly. Dick Foran and Victor Jory handle secondary parts acceptably.

Earl Carroll's stage manager, Harry Long, will wed Susan Miller, one of the eyefuls in the show. . . . Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy will be teamed next in a screen adaptation of "I Married an Angel."

Tired Mothers Enjoy Juvenile Circus at Camp

It may take a professional animal trainer years to coax lions and tigers to jump through a flaming hoop. It is a difficult job to teach an elephant to dance, and there are some white horses that never learn to hold a pose. But at Camp Algonquin a whole circus can be organized and trained, with industry, in less than a week.

The camp held its tenth circus yesterday under the trees, with the waters of the Fox river as a background and the sky as a big tent. In the audience were a hundred weary mothers selected by the United Charities as most in need of a healing rest in the country. Its performers, the clowns, midgets, and all its wild animals, were their 200 children, most of whom had never seen a real circus.

It was a great success. Mrs. Astrid Save, superintendent of the camp, who supervises the paper costumes, the erection of sideshows, the makeup of the fortune tellers, and arranges for the pink lemonade and ice-cream, said it was one of the best in years.

Already more than 1,600 mothers and children have enjoyed the camp this season. The last contingent of 320 will arrive tomorrow for a ten-day stay before the camp is closed for the summer. Each visitor has left restored in health and spirit, better able to meet a trying winter in the tenements of the city.

The camp is partly financed by gifts from CHICAGO TRIBUNE readers. It costs only $9.10 to send a child for an outing, and $25 to send a mother and her two children.

The Free Ice fund, also operated by the United Charities through the generosity of Tribune readers, received several contributions yesterday. They are gratefully acknowledged:

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds, promoter of children's acts in the days before motion pictures, is attracted to the tenement flat of the Lichts by the singing of their little daughter, Josefa. Next day he calls with his wife and persuades the Lichts to let him take Josefa into his home and train her for the stage. Two older children, Lena and Eddie, live with the Reynolds. During a stage show Eddie's voice breaks and Josefa goes to his rescue, saves the act, and becomes famous overnight. Josefa is billed as Sheila Doone. Lena hides her envy and hatred of Sheila by pretended friendship. Backed by Producer Leica, Lena becomes a motion picture actress in the infant industry. With Lena's brief day waning Leica signs up Sheila. Lena loses a coveted rôle to Sheila. Lena forces Harry Latch, a leading man, who falls in love with Sheila, to marry her and she retires from the screen. Her husband is accidentally drowned. Sheila helps Lena financially and depends on Lena for business advice.

INSTALMENT XIII.

A SECRET ENGAGEMENT.

One day a little parcel came to Sheila by registered express. It contained a diamond bracelet and love from Papa Licht. And everybody teased her and asked her who the "boy friend" was, and within the year Papa Licht sent her a second bracelet to match the first, and told her that she didn't have to work any more unless she wanted to. But Sheila loved the work she was doing and the life she was leading.

Sheila did many things on the spur and impulse of the moment, but in serious matters, such as doing over the house on Western avenue, and investments, on the something down and monthly payment plan, she grew more and more dependent on Lena's advice.

Sometimes Lena brought her mother and the young Harry to call, and, although Sheila adored the fragile child, who was her godson and was forever buying things for him, she was bored to tears by Mrs. Bowen.

This was because Mrs. Bowen was forever harping upon the most boring of all subjects, which, of course, is gratitude. And there was something of the Uriah Heep in Mrs. Bowen's oily and endless expressions of thanks for past favors and of devotion.

It was the time in our history when people drank, who would not have drunk otherwise, because drinking was forbidden. Sheila drank as a matter of course, and good fellowship. But she had inherited a strong German head and was never known to make a holy show of herself. Lena drank because she liked to drink. But she also had a hard head. And when she did occasionally exceed her limit it was nearly always in the company of those who occasionally exceeded theirs.

It was no more than a twenty minute drive from the studio to her home in the valley, but for business reasons, as she explained to her gullible mother, Lena maintained and was helped to maintain a little flat just off Vine street. To this flat she never invited Sheila or any of the motion picture crowd, most of whom did not even know of its existence, but rather such young men of the business world as she judged to be on the way up.

Her small business deals financed with money borrowed from Sheila and in other ways were on the whole successful. It was a time of great building activity and expansion. Even fools were making money and Lena was by no means a fool. And a day came when her operations had so expanded upon a shoe string capital that she stood to make or lose a large sum of money.

And she had no sooner finished paying for her house in the valley, thanks to Sheila, than she mortgaged it and made down payments on other properties which seemed more likely to move in the near future. She lived under a strain, took a secret nip now and then to keep her going, and was chary of friendships or entanglements with persons who could not be of any real use to her.

The motion picture industry, always reaching out for bigger and better stories and for better if not bigger actors, was beginning to entice away its favorites from the legitimate stage.

Austin Birch, who had conducted a ten year career on the stage with dignity and charm, in a moment of discouragement, signed a contract with Emmanuel P. Leica and came to Hollywood. He was a serious minded but human young man. He was beautifully made and his face was strong and sensitive rather than handsome.

His first impressions of the motion picture world were not favorable. It didn't make sense. It was without standards or tradition. The stars, or, anyway, the ones he first got to know, seemed to him shallow, tawdry, and vain beyond endurance. He liked better the technicians, some of the directors, some of the writers, and even some of the extras. Among the extras one found gallant old-timers of the legitimate stage, who played character bits with authority and looked their precarious fortunes bravely in the face.

It was inevitable that because of her beauty he should ask who Lena was, and that after an introduction he should be attracted by her matter of fact simplicity and delicate cynicism. Thanks to her association with Ashhurst, whom she had admired, Lena was able to talk of standard plays and theatrical devices with knowledge and entertainingly.

Austin Birch and Lena began to be seen together in public places, the Alexandria, the Ship at Venice. Dust gathered in the apartment off Vine street. Lena went home at night. Often Austin Birch drove her home in his long black roadster, and if they were in the middle of conversation finished it before Lena alighted and said good night.

"O, no," Lena helped finish one such conversation. "They're not all like that. Sheila Doone is a dear and straight as a string. You'll like her. But you're not to like her more than you like me."

"Hitherto," said Birch, "Miss Doone has been conspicuous by her absence."

"That's because she's on location in San Francisco. But she's my best friend and you're bound to meet. . . I'm afraid it's horribly late. Poor mother. She always sits up until I come home. That light is in her window."

Birch had a mental image of a mother resembling Whistler's. He had not yet had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Bowen.

"We're more like two sisters than mother and daughter. I tell her everything."

"Then tell her that I thanked you most politely for a charming evening . . . and kissed your hand good night."

Sheila returned to Hollywood in a great state of happiness and excitement. She was engaged to marry. And she told her mother, but no one else, not even Lena.

Mama Licht was skeptical. It was not the first or even the fifth time that Sheila had momentarily fancied herself to be in love. Then Sheila told her mother that this was different, as indeed it was.

The gentleman was, of course, Ronald Low, with whom Sheila was costarring in "Green Trees." At first they had fought like cat and dog, only to find that they had fought because they liked each other so much.

"That boy," said Mama Licht, "is too old for you."

"Thirty isn't too old, mama."

"That boy will never see 35 for the second time. Wait till I tell your papa and he says no. Without your papa's consent you cannot marry until you are 18 years of age."

"We can't be married until I'm nearly 19. That's why nobody is to know about our engagement except you."

"That boy should ask my little girl to marry him and put her off until she is nearly 19?"

"And now," cried Mama Licht. "It gives divorce!"

"And now it gives Ronny," scolded Mama Licht. "What is that for a name for a man."

"Ronny," Sheila pursued with good humored patience, "and his wife don't get on. She won't live in Hollywood and he has to. The grounds are desertion."

"Ronny isn't doing the deserting. She is. Ronny is the one that is suing for the divorce. But the judge wouldn't like it if he knew that Ronny was engaged. So we're saying nothing and we'll have to watch our step and not be seen together and all that. And he's coming to dinner tonight."

On the House

Don't neglect the heating unit when checking on the things which need to be done to your house this fall. Remember that a good job of insulation for your basement heater and pipes will pay for itself by fuel saved in three years, and perhaps in two! To let heat escape through an uninsulated pipe or boiler costs money every day you run your heating system. It will pay you to have such adequate and thorough insulation that even though you've a hot fire inside your boiler, its surface will be but mildly warm to the hand.

Let Records Aid Children's Love of Music

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Out of her everyday life at home and outdoors, out of the things he does and sees, your very little girl and your very little boy create the soft, spontaneous hums, the rhythmic syllables, and later the simple repetitious songs that are the beginnings of their expression of music.

To encourage this natural expression and love of rhythm is one of the duties of parents. For their guidance I am listing phonograph records which can be used in developing the natural musical gifts of children. Here are as many as I have room for:

[b] Rhythms for children: Run Run Run, Concone; Jumping, Gurlitt; Air de Ballet, Jadassohn; Waltzes 1-2-9, Brahms.

[f] This may also be used quite well for listening [orchestral]. Boating on the Lake, Kullak; Skating, Kullak; Waltzer, Gurlitt; March, Gurlitt.

[2] Melodies for children: Rock-a-Bye Baby [violin]; Sweet and Low [violin]; Lullaby [viola]; Adeste Fideles [bells]; The First Nowell [trombone]; Nazareth, Gounod [cornet].

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We would like to hear from you young people on a subject that concerns a number of our young women readers. It is this, in brief:

A girl meets a young man to whom she is attracted. He is a bit reserved in manner. She, too, suffers the same complaint, if you wish to look at it that way. They meet under the auspices of friends a few times, and then nothing happens until friends manage to get them together again, each of the young pair quite anxious for the next meeting to occur.

Our opinion is that today, with girls on the whole feeling released from the old hide-bound formula, the reserved girl is likely to suffer extinction completely unless she musters up enough courage to make a move. There are so many of the other kind—and we mean nice girls, too, you understand—who aren't tied down with repressions. They have the easy, friendly manner that, for one thing, permits them to go ahead and let the young man get a hint of the desirability of his company and, for another thing, is able to put him at his complete ease, which is ever an advantage to a girl.

Do you really feel, boys, that a girl, a nice girl, is chasing you if she extends you invitations? Or, do you still feel that if the chap had the real feeling he would have the initiative?

Sally to Take 100 Friends to 'Wizard of Oz'

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by the Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Just wait 'til you boys and girls see the terrible old witch riding her broomstick, flying through the sky like a big black bird. She has a high black hat and a long green nose—and it's no wonder poor little Dorothy was frightened of her.

There's a good witch, too, in the "Wizard of Oz," who is beautiful and kind and helps the Tin Woodman and the Scarecrow and all the other funny people of the famous story.

The boys and girls who win invitations to my party on Aug. 31 will come with me to the United Artists theater to see this movie, which is in color, and just the kind of picture children like.

I'm going to invite 100 boys and girls as my guests, and any youngster may try for an invitation. In order to select the children who'd enjoy this picture most, I want you all to write letters, telling me why you'd like to come. If you write a very convincing letter perhaps you'll see your name listed with the winners in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

Aside from really wanting to come, the only other requirements are that you include your name, address, and age in your letter, and that you mail it in plenty of time to have it reach me by Thursday morning. The winners will be selected then. Get busy and write that letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Tapioca puddings are like some people—they improve on acquaintance. You like their attractive appearance, creamy texture and flavor immediately. And it's easy enough to appreciate the economy of both time and money in serving these simple desserts.

But a woman really begins to see the value of those little white grains of tapioca when she realizes how many nourishing cups of milk and eggs they bring with them into the family diet.

Maple Walnut Tapioca.
[Serves 6.]

1 cup maple sirup
2½ cups quick cooking tapioca
2 cups milk, scalded
1 egg, separated
¾ cup chopped walnut meats

Combine sirup, salt, and tapioca and add to milk, in top of double boiler. Cook until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently, about 15 minutes. Pour small amount of mixture over slightly beaten egg yolk, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened. Cool and fold in nuts and stiffly beaten egg white. Place in sherbet glasses and chill. Serve with garnish of walnut halves.

Creamy Peppermint Tapioca.
[Serves 8.]

1 egg, separated
1-3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
2-3 cup crushed peppermint candy

Combine milk and slightly beaten egg yolk in top of double boiler. Add tapioca, salt and candy. Heat to scalding. Cook until thickened and clear, about 5 minutes. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Turn into sherbet glasses and chill. Serve with chocolate sauce.

Mocha Fruit Tapioca.
[Serves 8.]

3 tablespoons ground coffee
4 cups milk
1-3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup sugar
2 eggs separated
½ cup fruit preserves

Add coffee to milk and heat slowly to boiling point. Remove from heat immediately and pour through fine strainer. Combine sugar, salt, and slightly beaten egg yolks, and add milk gradually. Cook in top of double boiler until thickened, stirring constantly, about 7 minutes. Remove from heat and stir small amount into the stiffly beaten egg whites. Return to remaining mixture and fold in gently. Fold in fruit preserves and turn into serving dishes to chill. Chill and serve with topping of additional fruit preserves.

Golden Apricot Fluff.
[Serves 8.]

½ cup quick-cooking tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups sugar
1 cup cream, whipped

Force half the cooked apricots through a sieve, and add water to make 4 cups. Add tapioca and salt, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add 1 cup of the sugar. Chill until thickened. Fill parfait glasses with half the tapioca mixture. Fold whipped cream into remaining half and pile lightly on top of first mixture. Add remaining cup of sugar to rest of apricots, and cook slowly until slightly thickened. Cool and serve as sauce over tapioca.

Baked Peach Tapioca Pudding.
[Serves 8.]

2 cups sliced fresh peaches
2½ cups water and peach juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons melted butter
1-3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
4 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Combine all ingredients and place in greased baking dish. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for 30 minutes, or until done, stirring well every 10 minutes and again when removing from oven. Serve warm or cold with cream.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

In many cases a declarer cannot afford to play a single card, either from dummy or his own hand, until he forms a comprehensive plan. At other times he must base his plan entirely on the result of the first trick. This applies specifically to a hand such as the following:

NORTH
♠ 9 5 4
♥ 8 2
♦ Q 9
♣ A J 10 8 4 3

WEST
♠ Q 8 2
♥ Q 10 7
♦ A 10 7 6 4 3
♣ 9

EAST
♠ J 10 6 3
♥ J 9 4 3
♦ J 8
♣ Q 6 2

SOUTH

♦ K 5 2
♣ K 7 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 No trump	Pass	2 No trump	Pass
3 No trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

It will be noticed that North did not waste a valuable round of bidding by mentioning his club suit, but adopted the much sounder plan of raising the no trump. Despite all that has been written on the subject, countless players "take out" their partners' no trumps on the slightest excuse, and usually with no excuse at all. Since the no trump announces balanced distribution and usually some strength in every suit, the assumption is that a long suit such as North's can be easily established, hence is just as valuable at no trump play, where the goal is nine tricks, as it is at suit play with an eleven trick requirement.

West opened the diamond six. There was no point in ducking in dummy and leaving the queen blank, hence declarer properly put up the queen. The question whether this card would or would not hold would be the determining factor in planning the play. When it did hold [East shrewdly playing the jack to unblock], declarer's procedure was automatically laid out for him. The crux, of course, was to prevent East's gaining the lead and coming through declarer's diamond king. To that end, dummy's club jack was led and, when East played low, declarer did likewise, being perfectly willing to concede the trick to West if necessary. Obviously it was not necessary; the jack held. Declarer then ran off the entire club suit and eventually cashed four tricks in the majors, making, in all, five-odd.

A word about East's play of the diamond jack, under the queen: This is a point well worth noting. Suppose declarer had played this hand sloppily instead of well. In other words, suppose he had played the club suit in such a way that East was bound to get the lead with the club queen. Then, if East had failed to unblock the diamond jack, declarer's mistake would not have benefited the defense. The diamond jack would not permit an overtake by West, and the suit never could be run. By unblocking the jack and holding the eight spot, however, East would be in a position to lead through South's king into his own partner's tenace.

It also is interesting to note what would have happened if the diamond ace had been in East's hand and had covered the queen. In that case, declarer's correct line of play would be diametrically opposite from the one adopted. He would have to duck East's diamond return and, if East led a third round, win with the king. Then safety would demand that the club finesse be taken against West instead of East, that is, that the club king be cashed and the second club be passed into East.

More than 12,000 Chicagoans of German descent gathered in Riverview park yesterday for the 62d celebration here of the Canstatter Volksfest, a southern German harvest festival. The Volksfest is sponsored by the Schwaben Verein of Chicago. Proceeds go to charity.

A sixty foot tower covered with fruits and vegetables stood in the picnic grove as a symbol of the harvest. On the day's program were sports events, a band concert, and a pageant of the seasons. A musical comedy, "A Sunday in Schnait," also was presented in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of Frederick Silcher, German composer.

The Housewife

An Evanston woman, Virginia D. Graham, has invented one of the best household helps we've ever come across. It is a series of containers for linens that keeps them in perfect condition, clean and unwrinkled. These containers are two flat, stiff pieces with outer surfaces of a leather-like material in white. This material can be wiped off with a damp cloth if it becomes soiled. You slip a dozen place mats, or finger bowl doilies, or napkins between these sides and place an elastic, that comes with the set, over them. There they are, and there they will be, as neat and clean a year from now as they are today.

These packs come in sizes for all linens and for men's dress vests and white ties, for women's handkerchiefs, scarfs and veils, and the like. A set of them, all gleaming white, makes a lovely gift for a bride.

Versatile Autumn Costumes

AUTUMN TWO-PIECE COSTUMES.

Two-piece outfits have the special virtue of being versatile. Make enough of the single items, and you can assemble them almost any way. The two patterns today offer a good, workable foundation for such a wardrobe.

No. 3292 offers a snugly fitted blouse and a shirred skirt, which may be made of either silk or soft woolen. No. 2807 carries out the suit idea in woolen. The jacket has a Peter Pan collar and is snugly fitted. The skirt is gored. Tweed is an exceptionally suitable choice. Then you can mix toppers and skirts from the two patterns, achieving at least two other outfits.

Style No. 3292 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material for the short-sleeved jacket blouse, and 2⅛ yards for the full skirt.

Style No. 2807 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material for the skirt.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of patterns and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Chic, Modern Grandma Is Proud of Age

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The truly chic grandmother of today is proud of her status. The one mistake she will not make is trying to be other than her age. She does not try or want to be mistaken for her daughter's twin sister. She knows that, young and smart as she may have maintained herself, she cannot vie on those points that are youth's very own with that young person in her family.

The consequence is that today we undoubtedly have the most lovely women of grandmother age the world has ever seen. This phenomenon may be holding down an important executive job. She is leading an active life, no matter in what rôle she is cast.

It is not an easy rôle to perform when there is no incentive, no reason why one should be up on her toes from every beauty and grooming angle.

The women of middle age who appear run down at the heels have led or are leading ingrown lives, self-centered in the sense that life has robbed them of their family interest. There is no outside job to spur them on daily, and within themselves there is not the initiative to be up and taking on some live interest.

It may help such a woman, however, to study other women of her age who have managed still to be good company, not only to talk to but to be seen with. Looking, she'll often find that these executive women manage the young look and the young interests because they know if they lose them everything is at stake.

It follows as day follows night that, given the mental stimulus, the woman will automatically fall in line with the good grooming, smart clothes requirements, the silhouette, skin and hair upkeep of her more alert sisters.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Not so long ago we placed a jar of cleansing cream at the disposal of the co-workers who are such willing little helpers when it comes to trying out beauty products. They raved. It was marvelous. It was different. What was this new cream and where could they stock up on it?

They wondered where they'd been all this cream's life when they found out it was anything but new. It's been on the market since before any of them were born. And though it's been unheralded and unsung it's had its fans who couldn't be bribed to use anything else!

And we can understand why. It's one of those thoroughly satisfactory cleansing creams that holds your affections for several reasons. It cleanses well—and it lubricates well. It's an extremely rich cream, the color of honey, and not as heavy as it looks in the jar. Usually creams as rich as this are pretty gooey and must be removed with painstaking thoroughness. This cream can be massaged in with pleasing speed—and when it's whisked off you have the feeling that though your skin has been cleansed with oils—and rich oils at that—it hasn't been left uncomfortably greasy. It's rather hard to explain, but the cream has a faint tang that makes it one of the most refreshing creams you've ever used.

It's a "dry skin special" if ever there was one. And it's one of the cleanest feeling creams to be found.

GIANTS' ROOKIES DEFEAT REGULAR ELEVEN, 14 TO 7

EDDIE MILLER'S 20 YARD DASH DECIDES GAME

Soar, Back, Injured While Blocking.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 20.—Little Eddie Miller, a 165 pound rookie, and big Ed Danowski, a 27 year old veteran, gave a demonstration of major league football for several thousand fans today as the Wisconsins, captained by Tuffy Leemans, defeated Ed Widseths' Minnesotas, 14 to 7, in the New York Giants' intrasquad game.

Ed Danowski.

Miller sparked the Wisconsins' attack and scored their second touchdown on a twenty yard sprint through the Giant regulars in the final minutes of the game. The score broke a 7 to 7 tie. Danowski, the National league's forward passing champion, threw fourteen passes for the regulars, completing ten for 119 yards. Two were intercepted.

Hank Soar Injured.

The contest, the Giants' first workout under game conditions, climaxed the first half of their preparations for the All-Star engagement in Chicago a week from Wednesday and may have cost them one of their most important backs. Hank Soar, the starting tail back, suffered a severely bruised hip early in the first quarter. Accurate diagnosis of his injury cannot be made for a day or two, but Soar apparently will not be able to participate in any strenuous drills for nearly a week even if he is able to take his regular place in the lineup against the collegians.

Tarzan White, veteran guard, suffered a bruised shoulder, but expects to be ready for more scrimmage by Tuesday.

Today's battle had all the aspects of a big college game. Two bands and a drum corps played and drilled while the crowd cheered from the WPA stadium, which gives an excellent view of Lake Superior. Designed by a woman architect, who apparently had a flower show in mind, the trim little stadium starts at one corner of the field, runs around the end zone and up to the 45 yard line along one side.

The Minnesotas made the first threat when Soar returned Len Barnum's fifty-three yard punt twenty-eight yards to the Wisconsins' 46 yard line and Danowski began passing. It culminated in a touchdown in seven plays when Bull Karcis, full back, cracked outside the Wisconsins' left tackle and fell over the goal line three yards away. Ward Cuff added the extra point.

Danowski's Passes Click.

Danowski threw two passes, one to Jim Lee Howell for twelve yards, and another to Soar for fourteen in this march. Soar was injured when he blocked for Danowski.

The score was tied in the second period when Miller, from the New Mexico Aggies, and Walt Neilsen, 220 pound full back from Arizona, took charge of the Wisconsins' offense, replacing Leemans and Barnum, respectively. Miller passed nine yards to Dale Burnett, then Neilsen passed into the flat to Miller, who ran away from and danced past half a dozen tacklers for a 28 yard gain. Neilsen charged through the middle of the line on a buck, wrenched out of the grasp of two men and bolted through Alton Owen, rookie half back, for 21 yards. Then, with Neilsen block-

Goldberg Is Ready to Start with All-Stars

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Marshall Goldberg, All-Star left half back from the University of Pittsburgh, will be ready to start the game against the New York Giants in Soldiers' field a week from Wednesday night. Goldberg, who had been handicapped by a foot injury, continued to run plays with his teammates yesterday and will be able to scrimmage this week.

While the Pitt back obviously will be handicapped by having had less training than rival candidates for the position, he hasn't missed a practice and he knows his assignments. By virtue of his election to the starting lineup by the fans of the nation, Goldberg will start the game. There is no necessity to depend on him completely with such players as Sid Luckman of Columbia, Billy Patterson of Baylor, Michigan State's Johnny Pingel, Pete Fay of Stanford, Everett Kischer of Iowa State, and Warren Brunner, Tulane back, who proved themselves in last week's four scrimmages, but Goldberg probably will have his chance as well.

Practice in Morning.

The All-Star schedule was limited to morning practice yesterday. It was a review of offense and defense with no contact work of any kind. After lunch most of the boys attended the White Sox baseball game. Only one practice will be held today and the players again will be granted a half

FOR WANT OF A NAIL—

The shoe was lost. For want of that shoe Poor Richard's horse and rider had an unfortunate time of it. Borrowing Benjamin Franklin's maxim that a little neglect may breed a great mischief, may we point out that football fans who forget to order tickets for the All-Star game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 30 will deprive themselves of seeing the greatest sports spectacle of the year.

You still can be among the cheering thousands who will watch the College All-Americans battle the New York Giants, champions of professional football. Just call at the Tribune's Public Service offices, either in the lobby of Tribune Tower or 1 South Dearborn street, for tickets. You also may order by mail. Money orders or checks should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and addressed to All-Star Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

CARDINALS WIN 7-1, 7-5; RED LEAD CUT TO 3½ GAMES

Mize Bats In Six Runs in Second Game.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 20 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds crumbled before the St. Louis Cardinals in a double-header today and the Reds' lead was slashed to three and one-half games before 28,432 fans. Johnny Mize hit his 21st and 22d homers and batted in six runs in the second game to give his mates a 7 to 5 victory after the Cardinals battered Bucky Walters in the first for a 7 to 1 victory.

This was the seventh double-header victory for the Cardinals this season and gave them a sweep of the series.

Welland Checks Reds.

Slaughter's single scored Pepper Martin in the first inning of the first game. Weiland struck out the first three Cincinnati batters and the Reds failed to reach first until the sixth inning, when Craft singled and later came home on Joost's safety to tie up the game. An eighth inning rally broke up the duel between Weiland, the winning pitcher, and Walters, who left the field still seeking his 21st victory.

In the second game two singles and a sacrifice scored one St. Louis run in the first inning. Mize, the league's leading slugger, homered with two on in the third. With two out in the sixth, two singles and a walk loaded the bases and Slaughter was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in a run.

Reds Tie Score.

Going into the last of the sixth trailing, 5 to 1, the Reds tied it up with four singles, a walk and Pinch-Hitter Lombardi's sacrifice fly.

Grissom, charged with the loss, walked Slaughter in the eighth and Mize hit one into the bleachers to put the Cards in front.

Yesterday's tie will be played off as a part of a double-header here Tuesday, Sept. 26.

St. Louis has won 19 of its last 21 games, exclusive of yesterday's 3 to 3 tie with the Reds.

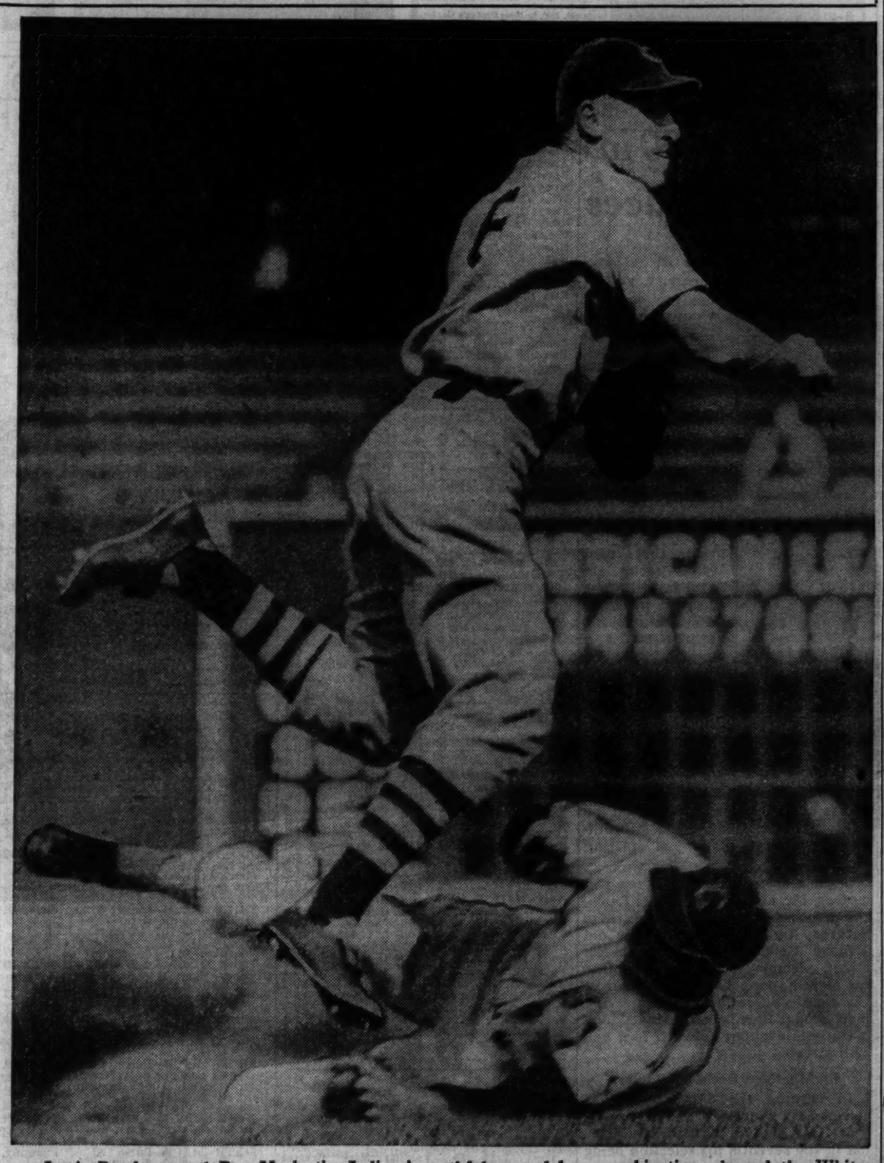
Indians' Kid Double Play Twins Click Against Sox



Louis Boudreau and Roy Mack, the Indians' youthful second base combination, showed the White Sox a bit of nifty fielding in the second inning of yesterday's game in Comiskey park. Norman Schlueter has just forced Larry Rosenthal at second after grounding to Boudreau. Mack is throwing to first base to double Schlueter despite Rosenthal's frantic efforts to break up the play. Cubs Deal Pirates 12th Loss in Row, 9 to 5; Then Fall, 5 to 0

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 20.—The Cubs climbed over the prostrate forms of the Pirates once this afternoon, but Pittsburgh eventually came back to life. The Chicagoans took the first half of a double-header, 9 to 5, to stretch Pie Traynor's patient hound dogs' losing streak to twelve games, but the hound dogs got the scent in the second game and ran down the Chicago boys, 5 to 0. The second contest was a six inning affair, delayed by rain in the third, and eventually halted by the state's Sunday closing law.

The Cubs' successful achievement in the first argument was made easy as they exhibited a knack for mixing hits with passes off a series of home town pitchers. The three freshmen in the Cub batting array did much of the ground work for producing runs and the manager, Gabby Hartnett, working another game toward Ray Schalk's all time catching mark, showed his appreciation by driving in four runs, three of them being scored by the kids in the ensemble.

Whitehill Short on Skill.

After Claude Passeau had achieved his eleventh triumph in the first game, Earl Whitehill, American league graduate, endeavored to carry on but proved himself a bit short of ammunition. Because Hank Leiber erred, the Pirates got off to one run lead in the first and after rainfall had granted the veteran left hander a breathing spell, the Pirates went on a bender in the fifth and sent him out of the game.

Meanwhile the Cubs were able to collect only two hits off Max Butcher. The hitting by the Cubs in the second game was restricted to Gus Mancuso and Bill Herman. Mancuso led off in the third with a single off Vaughan's glove. The Pirates were only one run ahead, so Whitehill bunted, but the poke went into the air and Fletcher purposely dropped it. The result was a double play. Herman's hit, a clean single to left, showed up in the sixth with two out. The remainder of the inning included a pop foul to Susce by Galan.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs were perfect guests in the first inning, but in the second gave signs of their intention to extend the Pirates' losing streak. Nicholson opened this inning with a single and G. Russell forced him. Mattick pumped a two bagger into right, and Manager Hartnett was handed an intentional pass, loading the bases. Passeau singled to right, G. Russell and Mattick scoring. Klinger disposed of both Hack and Herman.

The Cubs did not do much hitting in the third, but scored three more runs. Galan walked and Leiber looped a single into short center. A pass to Nicholson filled the bases. G. Russell also walked and Galan was forced to

Hits with Two Out, Two Strikes.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Things were looking pretty drab for the White Sox yesterday after the Indians had tied the score with two runs in the ninth and had taken the lead with a run in the tenth. But all was sweetness and light in the end, for, with two out and two strikes tabulated against him in the home tenth, Eric McNair bashed a single which drove in Luke Appling and Larry Rosenthal with the runs that gave the Sox a 6 to 5 victory and stretched the Chicago winning streak to seven games, a new high for the season.

The blowup of John D. Rigney in the ninth and the troubles of Clint Brown in the tenth were very depressing at the time, but there were moments in the Sox portion which seemed just as doleful.

An Inning of Suspense.

With the Sox one run behind going into the home tenth, Mike Kreevich raised the hopes of the 15,000 fans by banging a double off the scoreboard in left, his fourth straight hit. Gee Walker, who has made one single in his last seventeen times at bat, tapped to Ken Keltner, but Kreevich reached third while Gee was being thrown out.

Then came the sorrowful chapter. Appling slashed one right into the glove of Second Baseman Oscar Grimes, playing in close. Kreevich was trapped between third and home and run down, Grimes to Keltner. While this was going on Appling got to second, sliding there to beat Keltner's throw by an eyelash.

Rosenthal was walked by Joe Dobson, who had replaced Mel Harder at the start of the ninth. In pitching to McNair, Dobson loosed a wild pitch, Appling reaching third and Rosenthal second. McNair fouled a strike, then missed one. But he used the third one to drive a single to center, Appling trotting home with the tying run, closely followed by Rosenthal with the victory counter.

Fifth in Row by One Run!

It was the fifth straight victory which the Sox have won by a margin of one run. They started their seven game streak by beating the Indians, 3 to 0, in Cleveland last Sunday and since have beaten the Browns once, the Tigers twice, and Cleveland three times. The Indians, who supplanted the Sox in third place a week ago Saturday, this morning trail the Chicagoans by four and a half games.

The first Sox base running misadventure came at the start of the Chicago offensive. Hayes opened the game with a single to right but the Indians had the Sox hit and run sign and Hayes was easily thrown out running toward second when Harder pitched out to Kuhel. Then Kuhel tripled to right. Kreevich popped to Mack and Boudreau threw out Walker from deep short.

McNair Drives in First Run.

The Sox scored the first run of the game before a double play caught up with them in the second inning. Appling opened with a single and Rosenthal singled to right, putting Appling on third. Luke scored on McNair's sacrifice fly, then Schlueter hit into a double play.

There was another base running slip in the Sox third, though it was not so apparent that it effected a loss of runs. With two out Kuhel walked

Giant Rookies Score Victory Over Regulars

Starting out on their own 35 yard line late in the third quarter the Wisconsins, directed by Miller, marched 65 yards to a touchdown, putting together three first downs against a team composed largely of veterans and starters. Miller passed 16 yards to Strong for one first down, 8 yards to Neilsen for another and knifed inside Widseth for four yards and the third.

The scoring play began as a wide end run, but Jim Poole, regular left end, anticipated it and drifted. While his blockers drove Poole out, Miller cut in and ripped through the grasp of Leland Shaffer and Widseth. Owen, who played nearly the entire game in the Minnesotas' back field, had a good shot at Miller, but he pivoted and continued on to the goal line. Strong also kicked this point.

They'll Have to Be Better.

The game was excellent entertainment for the assembled crowd and afforded superb conditioning work for the Giants. It indicated, however, that the champions have a long way to go in the next eight days. Tackling was fair, but far from what it will have to be against the All-Stars.

Barnum's punting, Danowski's passing, the play of Oldershaw and Frank Cope in the line, the pass catching of Howell, and Miller's all around performance were encouraging to the Giant cause. Blocking was alternately good and bad, and all in all Coach Steve Owen and his assistants had more to cheer than worry about.

BUCK NEWSOM'S DAY IS RUINED AS BROWNS WIN, 6-2

Fans Treat Him Right, but Ex-Mates Don't.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 20 (AP).—A group of fans honored Buck Newsom today as he made his first appearance here since the St. Louis Browns traded him last spring, but his erstwhile teammates paid him no respect as they pounded him for a 6 to 2 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was postponed when a heavy rain swept the field.

BREADON, OWNER OF CARDS, HURT IN FALL FROM HORSE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 20 (AP).—Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis National league baseball club, was injured seriously this afternoon when he was thrown by a horse he was riding at his farm near Fenton, about fifteen miles southwest of here.

Suffering from head injuries and a fractured right thumb, Breadon was brought to a hospital here. Dr. Robert F. Hyland, the club's physician, attended him, and said he would be unable to X-ray until tomorrow to determine if there had been a skull fracture.

GIANTS, PHILLIES DIVIDE; HUBBELL LOSES ON 5 HITS

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 20 (AP).—An eighth inning crackup of the Giants' infield gave the Phillies the second game of a double-header here today, 3 to 2, after New York had taken an easy 8 to 4 victory in the first. The second was a defeat for Carl Hubbell. A double by Gil Brack with the bases full in the eighth gave the Phillies the winning runs. Hal Schumacher outpitched Walter Beck to win the first game.

Owners Man Winning Craft in Yacht Race

Step-N-Fetchit, sailed by its owners, Dick Otter, skipper, and William Otter, crew, won the opening event of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's annual race week, sailed yesterday off Wilmette harbor. Thirty-two Star class yachts, representing the Jackson Park, Chicago, Columbia, Sheridan Shore, Chicago Corinthian, and Illinois Valley [Peoria] Yacht clubs, started on the triangular course. A gusty west wind caused several craft to withdraw.

Delight, Russell Moon's and Tempel Smith's entry, was rammed by another Star at the first buoy, one and one half miles from the start, and a six inch hole was torn in the port bow. The yacht was towed into the harbor by the Wilmette coast guard.

The Southern Shore Yacht club won the annual challenge race with the Jackson Park Yacht club's motor yacht fleet yesterday. Twenty-eight cruisers entered the navigational consistency race. The Southern Shore club scored 190 points to Jackson Park's 110. Margaret Ann, Dr. William Cruikshank's 36 foot cruiser, won the race.

The Lake Davenport [Ia.] Sailing club's team of skippers and crews defeated the Chicago Corinthian Yacht club's yachtsmen off Montrose harbor yesterday, 1,161 points to 1,137. Two three mile races were sailed by the two club's crews in Snipe class sloops. Both events were won by Bob Kellenberger and Don Innes of the Lake Davenport club. Their time for the first race was 53 minutes and 49 seconds; for the second, 49:28.

GREENBERG AND MARTA BARNETT WIN PARK TENNIS

New York, Aug. 20 [Special].—Seymour Greenberg of Chicago defeated Leonard Hartman, New York, to win the national public park tennis championship at Randalls Island today. Although he was carried to five sets, Greenberg rarely appeared in danger, and his triumph by scores of 6-2, 5-7, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 was well deserved.

Marta Barnett, unseeded Miami, Fla., player, took the women's singles title with a 6-2, 6-1 triumph over top-seeded Mrs. Marjorie Blair of Santa Ana, Cal. Miss Barnett also shared the women's doubles title, teaming with Mrs. Catharine Sample, also of Miami, to defeat Grace Rothberg and Evelyn Kemptner, New York, 6-1, 6-0.

Willis Anderson and Julius Heldman of Los Angeles, seeded No. 1, won the men's doubles, score. Klinger was removed and Swift retired Mattick on a fly ball. Hartnett singled to center, sending Leiber and Nicholson home to complete the inning's damage. This made it 5 to 0.

Pirates Break Through.

The Pirates picked up their first run in the fourth on three singles and a pass. They picked up another in the fifth because Lloyd Waner and Brother Paul singled with none out.

Then the Cubs gave the wheel another spin in the seventh as a welcoming for Mace Brown. Leiber walked, Nicholson doubled and the two of them skipped home when G. Russell tripled on Rescuer Clemensen's first pitch. Mattick walked and Hartnett doubled to right center, G. Russell and Mattick scoring. After reaching second Gabby kept on walking and was tagged, which was what he wanted.

The Pirates also had a big seventh inning. They made three more hits and produced another run. The Waner boys and Vaughan singled before an out was recorded, but Klein and Fletcher's double play ball fixed up the situation for Passeau. The two Pirate runs in the ninth were the result of an error by Mattick just before Vaughan tripled between Leiber and Nicholson, who were a bit confused about who was going to make the catch. There would have been another run if Galan hadn't made his second outstanding catch of the battle.

TWO WORKMEN ELECTROCUTED IN SUBWAY TUNNEL

Killed as Live Wire Falls; Eight Are Injured.

A coroner's inquiry will be held today into the deaths of two construction workers who were electrocuted yesterday morning in the subway tunnel beneath Milwaukee avenue near Ohio street. Eight others suffered minor shocks when a broken wire charged with electricity fell on a semi-circular steel form which was being moved into place in the tunnel.

Worker Pulls Two Free.

The steel form, which is thirty feet long and about fifteen feet in diameter, was being moved through the tunnel preparatory to being used in pouring concrete for the tube.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

The wire crackled and sputtered and Lipascik slumped against the steel form. Nauseda attempted to free him and was shocked fatally. The eight others who were injured were thrown to the ground. Fred Ayres, 1926 South Homan avenue, a tunnel laborer, used his sweater as insulation and pulled Nauseda and Lipascik free.

Inhalator Squad Fails.

The two were brought to the surface and a fire department inhalator squad gave them first aid. They died later in hospitals. The two were employed by the John Marsch, Inc., contractors, 1307 Wrightwood avenue, who are building that section of the Dearborn street subway between Chicago avenue and Hubbard street below Milwaukee avenue. When completed the subway will extend along Milwaukee avenue as far north as Paulina and Division streets.

Deputy Coroner Anthony C. Prusinski, who went to the scene with city and PWA engineers, said the deaths brought to three the number killed in subway construction since work was started. A laborer was crushed to death two months ago in an elevator at the subway section at Chicago avenue and State street.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

28 WEEK PROFIT OF JEWEL TEA UP TO $719,836

American Smelting Earnings Rise.

Jewel Tea Company, Inc., yesterday announced a net income of $719,836, equal to $2.57 a share, for the twenty-eight weeks ended July 15. This compard with net income of $693,522, or $2.48 a share, in the corresponding period a year earlier. For the fifty-two weeks ended July 15 net income increased to $1,450,272, or $5.18 a share, from $1,378,568, or $4.92 a share, in the fifty-two weeks ended July 15, 1938.

M. H. Karker (left) and Simon Guggenheim, whose companies reported increased earnings.

M. H. Karker, president, announced that sales for the twenty-eight week period totaled $13,058,076, an increase of 2.23 per cent over sales in the 1938 period. The company, with headquarters at Barrington, Ill., distributes grocery products through wagon routes and a chain of retail stores. On July 15 it had 1,548 wagon routes and 114 stores in operation.

Reports Rise in Taxes.

The report showed that Jewel Tea's taxes amounted to $611,165 for the first twenty-eight weeks this year, representing an increase of $18,124, or 3.06 per cent, over the corresponding period a year ago.

The company estimated the 1939 federal revenue act will increase its federal tax bill for 1940 by about $17,000 a year on the basis of present earnings. The company's federal tax bill for the twenty-eight weeks ended July 15 was 140.26 per cent higher than for the corresponding period of 1932. In the same period state taxes climbed 998.79 per cent, and local taxes 29.89 per cent.

American Smelting Net Up.

The semi-annual statement of the American Smelting and Refining company, issued by Simon Guggenheim, president, showed a net income of $5,429,674 for the first six months of this year. In the first half of 1938 net income amounted to $5,112,668.

After allowing for the first half year's dividend requirements for the preferred stock, the result for this year's period is equivalent to $1.68 a share on the no par common stock, compared with $1.53 a share in the first six months of last year.

The balance sheet of June 30 showed current assets of $87,215,219, and current liabilities of $22,516,339.

Protest Flow of Oil from Exempt Wells

Austin, Tex., Aug. 20 [Special].—Crude oil was flowing today at the rate of 100,000 barrels daily from wells in Texas which were exempted by the railroad commission from its fifteen day closing order, officials said. Applications for additional exemptions have been received.

Although this quantity of oil is small compared with the state's normal production of about 1,300,000 barrels daily, it caused independent operators in Oklahoma and Louisiana to protest today and to demand that the shutdown order in those states be lifted.

Allowable to Be Revised.

Adding to the industry's problems, the Texas commission plans to increase allowables of the east Texas field to meet a federal court decision that the order which has been in effect there did not apply equally to all operators. This increase will be at the expense of other fields which will have their quotas lowered. [This change has nothing to do with the general shutdown order and the increase will not go into effect until the closing order in Texas is lifted. Texas normally prorates oil output.]

Refineries in the gulf coast district which use approximately 858,000 barrels of crude oil daily have enough to run twelve days, while the Texas inland refineries, using 124,000 barrels daily, have a supply for eleven days, the Gulf Coast Refiners association announced today.

Refinery Prices Firm.

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 20 (AP).—Added firmness in the refinery gasoline market appeared near tonight as a result of the six state crude oil production shutdown which began early last week.

Oil men were watching crude stocks, which were diminishing in the face of the most drastic curtailment of yield in the industry's history.

Another advance of one-eighth of a cent a gallon in the gasoline price at the refinery was predicted here and the reduction in the supply of crude oil for processing into motor fuel revived reports that some major buyers soon would revoke recent crude price cuts. The retail price of gasoline remained unchanged.

Crude Output Falls.

The cuts in crude prices led the southwestern states to order wells closed, accounting for nearly all of an estimated drop of 1,315,975 barrels daily in the nation's flow last week. The Tulsa World and the Oil Weekly estimated national production last week at 2,273,000 barrels.

As Oklahoma moved to plug leaks in its closing of wells, the New Mexico oil conservation commission announced a public hearing for Aug. 31 to consider extending the shutdown there beyond that date.

FREE THOUSANDS IN ILLINOIS FROM WAGE-HOUR LAW

Rulings Are Issued for Farm Pursuits.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20 (AP).—The Wage-Hour administration issued today its first comprehensive summary of the fair labor standards act's application to agriculture.

Persons engaged in agriculture and allied pursuits—including thousands of Illinoisans—would be exempt from minimum pay and maximum hour provisions of the wage-hour law under the interpretation.

For instance, the exemptions would be extended to those raising and handling crops, handling and loading live stock, and producing and handling the huge milk supply needed in the Chicago and other metropolitan areas.

Packing Houses Not Included.

It was held, however, that the exemption for "packing" live stock does not include operations carried on in meat houses.

The interpretative bulletin was prepared by counsel of the wage-hour division of the department of labor for guidance of Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews.

Explaining its finding that the exemption for packers did not include operations in meat packing houses, the division said:

"Support for this proposition is found in the fact that where congress intended to grant an exemption to the live stock industry it did so in specific language."

It added that live stock products were not agricultural commodities within the meaning of the act and that packing them, therefore, was not an exempt operation.

Other Exemptions Defined.

The bureau said the exemption for "handling, slaughtering, or dressing" live stock did extend as follows:

Live stock—Raising of live stock, including breeding, fattening, feeding, and general care of cattle, sheep, swine, horses, mules, jackasses, or goats. Transporting to slaughter houses, stockyards, or other places where live stock is to be sold; receiving, weighing, grading, selling, slaughtering, and dressing, except for feeding the live stock at yards.

Explaining the exemptions it believed applicable to "dairying" under the law, the bulletin said:

"The term 'dairying' includes the milking of cows or goats, putting the milk into containers, cooling it, and storing it on the farm. Furthermore, the legislative history of the act indicates that if the farmer and his employés engage in such operations as separating the cream from milk obtained from the farmer's cows or goats, bottling such milk or cream, or making butter and cheese out of such milk and cream, these operations also fall within the exemption."

Cities Factory-Farm Case.

In a further discourse on agricultural exemptions, the bulletin said employés engaged in agriculture were exempt from the act's provisions even if the employer had other employés engaged in other operations not within the definition of "agriculture."

For example, it said, if an employer had a factory and farm located on the same land, the employés working exclusively on the farm would not be subject to the act's provisions, even though those employed at the factory might be.

Persons engaged in the processing of fresh fruits and vegetables are exempt from provisions of the act, but processors of nuts are not. [Nuts may be fruit, the interpretation said, "but they are not fresh fruits even when newly picked."

Canners Not Included.

Growers and handlers of tomatoes are exempt, but not canners of tomatoes.

The act exempts from both its wage and hour provisions some farming operations, lists others that are subject only to regulation of hours, and exempts seasonal work from the hour provision for fourteen weeks a year. The act leaves it to the administrator, however, to decide whether many specific operations fall under the various general agricultural exemptions.

Some other conclusions in the bulletin were:

Farm Bookkeeper's Status.

The bulletin said that first processing meant the first change in the form of raw materials. As a consequence, it held that the manufacture of leather, baking of bread, manufacture of rope from hemp, and the making of cigars, although each is a processing of materials, is not an exempted first processing.

Independent Store Sales Dip, but Exceed Year Ago

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20 (AP).—The department of commerce reported today that retail sales of 21,217 independent stores throughout the country increased 6.7 per cent in July over the same month a year ago, but were 12.5 per cent below June, 1939. Southern states reported the principal gains over a year ago volume. Florida topped the list with sales 20 per cent above July, 1938.

A BANK STOCK.

What is the record of Irving Trust company, the New York bank?—J. M.

Answer: Most banks have had a difficult time in recent years in maintaining an earnings record comparable to that of the past. Demands for loans upon the part of business have been small. Banks have been forced, therefore, to invest surplus cash in government securities, the return from which is low.

Irving Trust has not been an exception to this trend. Earnings have been declining for several years. Net income a capital share in recent years has been as follows:

1933	1.33
1934	1.14
1935	.70
1936	.72
1937	73
1938	62

Dividends have gone down with earnings. A quarterly rate of 40 cents a share was maintained from incorporation in 1929 to Jan. 3, 1933; on April 1, 1933, the rate was reduced to 25 cents a share quarterly, and this was paid to April 1, 1935, inclusive; from July 1, 1935, to the present time the rate has been 15 cents a share quarterly.

The bank had total assets of $763,189,801 at June 30, 1939. There are 5,000,000 shares of $10 par capital stock outstanding. Improvement in earnings and dividends must wait upon a revival in commercial loans and an improved interest level.

PAR VALUE.

Is a stock any better by having a par value than a stock that has no par value? Are they both subject to tax?—E. B.

The par value of a stock is not important to an investor. Earnings on the stock are the essential matter, and the stock market price ordinarily will fluctuate with such earnings. The fact that a stock has a par value does not make it any "better" than a stock with no par value.

Both par and no par value stocks are subject to tax. When a stock has a no par value, taxing authorities frequently assume its par value is $100. This has led some companies to establish a relatively low par value for their stock—the lower the par value the lower the tax.

DRAWN BY LOT.

Sometimes a company calls only a part of a bond issue for redemption. How do they decide which bonds to call? Does the investor have any way of telling if the bonds he holds will be called?—P. L.

Answer: When a bond issue is only partly called, the numbers of the bonds called are drawn by lot. It is merely a matter of luck whether an investor's specific bond is called or not. There is no way of telling ahead of time what numbers will be called.

Indiana Women Workers' Weekly Pay Average $16

The average weekly wage of 18,377 women employed in 243 Indiana factories in March was $16.33, the Indiana state employment service said in a survey issued yesterday. The average represented an increase of 21.4 per cent over March, 1938. Longer working schedules were the main cause of the increase, the service said. The average for men workers last March was $26.11 a week.

BOOTLEG WHEAT FROM CANADA TO UNITED STATES

American Loan Basis Enhances Price.

Bootleggers of wheat are busy again at the American-Canadian border as a result of a price disparity caused by governmental regulation, Chicago grain traders reported last week.

The American government guarantees farmers a loan of 87 cents a bushel for No. 1 dark northern spring wheat delivered at Minneapolis, Minn. The Canadian government pays only 70 cents a bushel for the same grade of wheat at Fort William, Ont., leaving a spread of 17 cents.

Traders recalled that in 1936, when the United States was short of the grain, unauthorized shipments over the border amounted to an estimated 10,000,000 bushels.

Profit on Illicit Shipments.

Grain men said that the bootleg profit on a bushel of wheat at the present disparity could run as high as 10 to 12 cents a bushel after payment of transportation costs. They said it is an easy matter for a truck loaded with grain to slip across the border on the many unguarded byroads.

"Free" wheat—that which is not eligible for American government loans—sold at Minneapolis Saturday as high as 74⅛ cents a bushel, or 4⅜ cents more than the Canadian maximum price. In addition a premium might have been obtained for high protein wheat.

Grain prices in American and other leading markets fluctuated widely last week.

Await Effects of Subsidy.

The new American government export subsidy program for wheat went into effect at noon Saturday, and traders are waiting anxiously to see how it will work out. Some figure 75 million bushels can be sold abroad if the subsidy is large enough.

Reports from the northern part of the corn belt indicated warmer weather is needed to mature the crop. Many states are expecting record yields of corn this season. The department of agriculture estimated Illinois and Ohio will harvest 48 bushels to the acre, and Indiana 47½ bushels.

LEGISLATIVE 'AID' FOR BUSINESS IS HELD BOOMERANG

New York, Aug. 20 [Special].—Administrative action and legislation designed to stimulate industry have in most cases resulted in an opposite effect, according to the annual report of the industrial bureau of the Merchants' Association of New York, made public today.

"A large proportion of this legislation, both current and proposed, has been designed to regulate and restrain business," the report said. "Much of it not only has not accomplished its professed objective but has made a great deal worse the conditions it proposed to remedy."

The report cited the national labor relations act, which it said "has greatly increased industrial strife."

The consequent confusion in business, the report said, has been reflected in the number of inquiries and requests for advice directed to the industrial bureau.

LUMBER ORDERS ARE 36 PER CENT ABOVE YEAR AGO

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20 (AP).—The National Lumber Manufacturers association reported tonight that new orders in the week ended Aug. 12 were 36 per cent larger than last year's seasonal weekly average. Production showed a gain of 17 per cent and shipments increased 22 per cent over last year.

Production in the first thirty-two weeks of the year was 21 per cent larger than in the corresponding period last year, shipments were 16 per cent larger and new orders 15 per cent greater.

In the week ended Aug. 12 the 503 reporting mills produced 238,576,000 feet of softwoods and hardwoods combined, shipped 248,823,000 feet and booked orders of 267,680,000 feet. Revised figures for the preceding week: 522 mills, 238,159,000 feet produced, 256,745,000 feet shipped, and 267,673,000 feet ordered.

RATE OF STEEL OUTPUT HIGHEST SINCE LATE 1937

The immediate outlook for the steel industry is favorable, with production advancing 1½ points to 63½ per cent of capacity, the magazine Steel said yesterday in its weekly review. It described the 63½ per cent schedule as the highest since the fall of 1937.

"Demand in some districts has tended to falter lately," Steel said, "but current and prospective business seemingly assures sustained activity into the fourth quarter.

"Recovery in steel making in the last ninety days has been so sharp as to suggest a leveling off in the near future, or at least a slower rate of improvement."

Steel's composite scrap price rose 9 cents last week to $15.42, the highest in twenty-two months.

ARGENTINA MAY CUT TRADE WITH SOME COUNTRIES

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 20 [Special].—Argentina is studying measures further to restrict imports from those countries with which she has not signed commercial treaties, it was learned today. Chief of those countries is the United States.

The announcement to this effect was made because the finance minister's recent prolonged conferences with certain subordinates had caused a renewal of rumors that the government was planning to depreciate the currency or to alter foreign exchange rates.

The ministry of finance again emphatically denied that the government had any intention of taking measures that would affect currency values or exchange rates.

WORKERS TO RUN A HOSIERY MILL AS CO-OPERATIVE

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 20 [Special].—Eighty-four hosiery workers, many of whom have not worked for months, knelt in church today to give thanks for employment made possible through the scheduled opening of a coöperative hosiery mill.

The plant was incorporated Friday and the workers will begin cleaning it Tuesday to prepare for the start of operations. A contract for a year's output of stockings has been signed.

The workers, each of whom contributed $300 to establish the mill, are expected to turn out 1,500 dozen pairs of stockings a week. The Rev. David C. Colony, rector of St. Luke's church, was one of the leaders in the project.

Factory Washing Machine Shipments Climb in July

Factory shipments of household washing machines in the United States in July increased to 104,817 units from 74,019 in July, 1938, the American Washer and Ironer Manufacturers association reported yesterday. The gain was the ninth consecutive monthly increase over the figure for the same month in the preceding year.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

by HOMER CROISZ

Wanted: A New Crop!

August 20, 1939.

WORKERS at the farm are on the lookout for a new crop. They hope to find some crop, suitable to the corn belt, which will help farmers in this region get away from the low prices of corn, wheat, and other crops that now glut the markets.

The search is not for a crop to upset established farming practices or to replace the crops that time has shown practical for farmers in this section of the country to grow. Rather it is an attempt to find some profitable crop to substitute for part of the acreage now being used for crops that cannot be sold at satisfactory prices, either direct or in the form of live stock.

Balk at Loan Sales.

Farmers are becoming discouraged with the unnatural situation of growing big crops of grain and selling them to the government through loans. Increasing supplies of corn, wheat, and other crops stored on farms and in warehouses by the government apparently hold little hope for a solution to the problem of low prices. Many farmers feel that this process eventually may depress prices more than if the crops were allowed to move normally into regular channels of trade.

Some new crop, or the revival of an old one, that could be grown profitably on part of the acreage now devoted to crops that depress the markets should be helpful, not only as an additional source of income but in removing some of the price depressing surpluses.

The men have been considering an additional expansion of the acreage of soy beans, a crop that has largely replaced oats in many sections of the corn belt in recent years. Many farmers put part of their former corn acreage in soy beans this year. The demand for soy beans for commercial uses is expanding, but the acreage planted to the crop also is increasing each year. This year's crop is said to be the largest on record.

Quit Growing Hemp.

The farm tried growing hemp for making fiber, but stopped when complications arose over a federal marihuana tax law that became effective in October of 1937. The flowering tops of hemp can be used in making marihuana cigarets.

Regulations for administering the marihuana law had not been worked out when the law was supposed to become effective and operators of the farm thought it best to discontinue growing hemp until they were sure what restrictions would be required under the provisions of the law.

Provide for Farmer.

Regulations relating to the production of hemp for fiber now make special provision for the farmer. Under these regulations a farmer who wants to grow hemp pays a federal tax of $1 a year and accounts under oath for all hemp he has had on hand during the year. He may dispose of his hemp tops only to a licensed manufacturer, but he need not account for the matured hemp stalks except to report the quantities of stalks gathered or the total fiber yield.
